Q42: Additional information.

Through its implementing agency GIZ, Germany offers a variety of services in the area of Trade Facilitation. Thus it can contribute to achieving a simplification and harmonisation of trade procedures in order to increase developing countries’ and LDC’s international competitiveness and to enable them to make better use of their opportunities in world trade. GIZ provides advisory services and technical assistance in three main areas:

1. Policy advice on trade facilitation on the political level: GIZ aims to support governments with identifying procedural obstacles at borders as well as with identifying the specific needs for reform. GIZ can facilitate coordination of responsible actors and strategic planning concerning the implementation of trade facilitation measures on the political level. GIZ also implements Poverty and Social Impact Assessments (PSIA) as well as Poverty Impact Assessments (PIA) in the countries, if so desired by and agreed with partner governments.
2. Advisory services and technical assistance in the area of customs procedure reforms: GIZ aims to facilitate the simplification and harmonisation of customs procedures by providing advice in the area of customs policy as well as technical assistance in reforming customs procedures at borders.
3. Advisory services concerning the regulatory aspects of quality and safety standards: GIZ aims to support governments in the process of simplifying and harmonising quality and safety standards regulations as well as improving the access to internationally recognised standards certificates. PTB supports partner countries in setting up of a national and regional Quality Infrastructure.

Q43: Will the Trade Facilitation Agreement, when adopted, benefit other development programmes that you operate?

Yes
Q44: Please specify the other programmes that Trade Facilitation Agreement implementation would benefit when adopted: (You may tick more than 1 box)

- Reducing costs and delays associated with procurement by in-country programmes
- Other (please specify) Reducing Trade Cost would support SMEs and private sector development Programmes, as it would make it easier for them to export, transit, expand, become more competitive, accessing new markets. Reduction of Trade Cost and regional integration are mutually enforcing and interdependent.
