Where the contracting authority provides for prizes and/or payments to candidates or tenderers it shall take them into account when calculating the estimated value of the contract. The value of public supply contracts shall be estimated at the beginning of the procurement procedure referred to in Article 7(1) of this Law.

2. Contracting authorities may not split up the value of the contract with the intention of avoiding the application of the procurement procedure set forth in this Law.

3. The choice of the method for calculating a contract may not be done with the intention of excluding them from the scope of this Law.

5. In the event the public supplies or services contract is awarded once in the current fiscal year or within 12 months from the start of the procurement without the possibility of extension, then the value of the procurement shall be the estimated value of the contract intended to award.

6. In the case of supply or service contracts which are regular in nature (i.e., several contracts within 12 months) or which are to be renewed within a given period, the contract value shall be calculated in one of the following ways:

1) the contract value of the intended procurement shall be the actual value of similar public contracts defined in the methods for calculating the value of public contracts for supplies or services, approved by the Public Procurement Office, and awarded during the preceding fiscal year or the preceding 12 months, adjusted (if possible) to take account of the changes in quantity or value which would occur in the course of the 12 months following the initial contract;

2) or the contract value of the intended procurement is the estimated aggregate value of the similar public contracts for supplies or services, awarded during the 12 months following the first delivery, or during the contract period if that is longer than 12 months.

7. In case of public supplies and service contracts the estimated value of the intended public contract shall be the aggregate value of the supplies and services irrespective of their share of public contract. The estimated value shall also include the value of siting and installation of goods supplied under the contract.

8. The value of supplies or services which are not necessary for the performance of a particular works contract may not be added to the value of the works contract when to do so would result in removing the procurement of those supplies or services from the scope of the law applicable to the procurement of supplies or services of certain value.

9. Where the intended supply contract provides for a possibility of extension (option), the basis for calculating the estimated contract value shall be the highest possible total of the purchase, inclusive of the option clauses.

10. In the case of contracts for the lease, rental or hire purchase, with or without option to buy, of products, the estimated contract value shall be calculated as follows:

1) in the case of fixed-term contracts, if that term is less than or equal to 12 months, the total estimated value for the term of the contract or, if the term of the contract is greater than 12 months, the total value of the intended contract, including the estimated residual value (value at which the goods are bought);

2) in the case of contracts without a fixed term or whose term cannot be defined, the monthly value of the contract multiplied by 48.

11. For the purposes of calculating the estimated contract value for services, the contracting authority shall take account of the following:

1) of the premium or any other remuneration payable, in the case of insurance services,
2) as regards banking or other financial services, of fees, commissions and interest as well as other forms of remuneration payable into the bank,

3) of estimated value of services, where the public services contract is awarded to the winner of the design contest, including all prizes and/or payments to tenderers;

12. In the case of contracts not specifying the total price (i.e., specifying only pricing rules), the estimated contract value shall be calculated on the basis of:

1) in the case of fixed-term contracts, where their term is 48 months or less, the total contract value;

2) in the case of contracts of indefinite duration or with a term of more than 48 months, the monthly value of the contract multiplied by 48.

13. When calculating the value of public works contracts, account shall be taken of the estimated value both of the execution of the works and design (where the works are both executed and designed), and the supplies needed to carry out the works and made available to the contractor by the contracting authorities.

14. Where the supplies, works and services of the same type are procured by awarding several contracts at the same time in the form of separate lots, the value of the procurement shall be the total estimated value of these several contracts calculated in compliance with the provisions of this Article. The value of procurement so calculated shall apply for all lots. Whether or not this total amount is equal to or greater than the applicable international threshold, the contracting authority may apply the provisions of the procedure laid down in Chapter IV of this Law to any lots, where the value of any of the lots, VAT excluded, is up to LTL 276,225 (EUR 80,000), in the case of contracts for services or similar contracts, or LTL 3,452,816 (EUR 1,000,000) in the case of works contracts, if the total value of the lots is up to 20% of the total value of the contract.

6. Prior information notices and contract notices shall be a constituent part of the contract documents. The contracting authority may choose not to repeat information provided in the notices, including the case where the technical specifications are based on the documents accessible to the suppliers and present a reference to other documents.

7. The contracting authority shall draft contract documents in compliance with the provisions of this Law. The contract documents shall be precise, clear, without ambiguities so that that the suppliers could submit tenders and the contracting authority purchase what it needs.

8.. Contract documents shall be drawn up in Lithuanian. In addition, contract documents may also be drawn up in other languages.

Article 25. Technical Specification

1. Supplies, services or works in procurement shall be described in technical specifications contained in contract documents. Certain definitions of technical specifications shall be given in Annex 3 to this Law. Whenever possible these technical specifications should be defined so as to take into account accessibility criteria for people with disabilities or design for all users.

2. Technical specifications must ensure competition and be non-discriminatory with respect to suppliers.

3. Without prejudice to mandatory national technical rules, to the extent that they are compatible with Community law, the technical specifications may be formulated by any of the following methods or their combination:

1) either by reference to standards, technical certificate or general technical specifications in order of preference, to national standards transposing European standards, European technical approvals, common technical specifications, international standards, other technical reference systems established by the European standardisation bodies or - when these do not exist - to national standards, national technical approvals or national technical specifications relating to the design, calculation and execution of the works and use of the products. Each reference shall be accompanied by the words "or equivalent";

2) or in terms of performance or functional requirements. Functional requirements may include environmental characteristics. However, such parameters must be sufficiently precise to allow suppliers to determine the subject-matter of the contract and to allow contracting authorities to award the contract for the necessary products, services or works;

3) to the object of procurement as mentioned in subparagraph 2 of this paragraph as a means of presuming conformity with such requirements referring to the specifications mentioned in subparagraph 1;

4) or by reference to technical specifications of certain characteristics of procurement objects as mentioned in subparagraph 1 or in terms of performance or functional requirements as mentioned in subparagraph 2.

4. Where a contracting authority makes use of the option of referring to the specifications mentioned in subparagraph 1 of paragraph 3, it cannot reject a tender on the grounds that the products and services tendered for do not comply with the specifications to which it has referred, once the tenderer proves in his tender to the satisfaction of the contracting authority, by whatever appropriate means, that the solutions which he proposes satisfy in an equivalent manner the requirements defined by the technical specifications.

5. Where a contracting authority uses the option laid down in paragraph 3 to prescribe in terms of performance or functional requirements, it may not reject a tender for works, products or services which comply with a Lithuanian standard transposing a European standard, with a European technical approval, a common technical specification, an international standard or a technical reference system established by a European standardisation body, if these specifications address the performance or functional requirements which it has laid down and where in his tender the tenderer proves to the satisfaction of the contracting authority and by any appropriate means that the work, product or service in compliance with the standard meets the performance or functional requirements of the contracting authority.

6. Where a contracting authority lays down environmental characteristics in terms of performance or functional requirements as referred to in subparagraph 2 of paragraph 3 of this Article it may:

1) use the detailed specifications, or, if necessary, parts thereof, as defined by European or (multi-) national eco-labels, or by and any other eco-label, provided that: those specifications are appropriate to define the characteristics of the supplies or services that are the object of the contract, the requirements for the label are drawn up on the basis of scientific information, the eco-labels are adopted using a procedure in which state institutions, consumers, manufacturers, distributors, environmental organisations and other interested persons can participate;

2) indicate that the products and services bearing the eco-label are presumed to comply with the technical specifications laid down in the contract documents. In such case it must accept any other appropriate means of proof, such as a technical dossier of the manufacturer or a test report from a notified body.

8. Appropriate means referred to in paragraphs 4 and 5 of this Article might be constituted by a technical dossier of the manufacturer or a test report by the notified body. Notified bodies are test and calibration laboratories, and certification and inspection bodies, which comply with applicable European standards. A contracting authority shall accept conformity certificates from notified bodies established in the EU Member States.

8. Unless justified by the subject-matter of the contract, technical specifications shall not refer to a specific make or source, or a particular process, or to trade marks, patents, types or a specific origin or production with the effect of favouring or eliminating certain undertakings or certain products. Such reference shall be permitted on an exceptional basis, where a sufficiently precise and intelligible description of the subject-matter of the contract pursuant to paragraphs 3 and 4 of this Article is not possible; such reference shall be accompanied by the words "or equivalent".

Article 26. Variants

1. The contracting authority shall indicate in the contract notice whether or not it authorises variants. Variants shall be allowed only where the criterion for the award of the contract is that of the most economically advantageous tender. Only variants meeting the minimum requirements laid down by the contracting authority shall be taken into consideration.

2. The contracting authority shall state in the contract documents the minimum specifications to be respected by the variants and any specific requirements for their presentation.

3. In the procedures for awarding public supplies or services contracts, the contracting authority which has admitted variants, may not reject a variant on the sole ground that it would lead to a service contract rather than a public supplies contract or vice versa.

Article 27. Providing Contract Documents

1. The contracting authority may provide the supplier with contract documents:

- 1) upon supplier's request;
- 2) together with the invitation to tender;
- 3) by placing on the Internet or using other electronic means.

2. The contracting authority must provide the suppliers with the contract documents immediately but not later than within 6 days after the receipt of the request for provision with contract documents if the request is submitted in due time no later than 6 days before the deadline fixed for submitting tenders. If, on the basis of Article 40 (5) or Article 48 (5) (cases of urgency), the contracting authority reduces the time limits fixed for receipt of requests and tenders, the time limit for providing with contract documents and the time limit for the suppliers' request for contract documents shall be reduced to 4 days if the request is provided in due time.

3. The contracting authority may, in reply to the supplier's request, send at the same time explanations to all other suppliers whom it has provided with contract documents, not specifying however from whom it has received the request to present an explanation.

4. Before the expiry of the time limit for the submission of tenders the contracting authority may at its own initiative explain (fine-tune) the contract documents whereas the published information shall be specified by fine-tuning the notice.

5. If the contracting authority prepares a meeting with the suppliers it shall draw up a record of the meeting. All questions relating to the contract documents put during the meeting as well as answers to them shall be put down in the record. The record shall be dispatched to all suppliers who take part in the procurement procedures.

6. The time-limits for providing with contract documents referred to in paragraph 2 of this Article shall not apply if the contracting authority immediately after the date of despatch of a contract notice or invitation to tender provides the suppliers with the contract documents by electronic means directly and free of charge.

7. The contracting authority may not provide the contract documents before the contract notice is published as specified in Article 23 (3). When providing the contract documents, the contracting authority shall observe the principles of equality and non-discrimination of suppliers.

8. The contracting authority may fix for all suppliers a single rate fee payable for the contract documents. The fee shall consist of the actual costs of copying and sending of the documents to the suppliers. An additional fee may be charged for translation of documents into a foreign language. This fee shall consist of the translation costs.

Article 28. Submission of Requests and Tenders

1. The contracting authority shall specify the deadline for submission of requests or tenders by indicating in the contract documents the date and the hour. In the event a tender is received after the specified date and hour, it shall be returned to the supplier unopened. The envelope with the tender shall also be returned if submitted in an unsealed and unstamped envelope.

2. The minimum time limits for the receipt of requests or tenders shall be counted (except for the public contracts subject to Chapter IV of this Law) from the date when the contract notice was dispatched from the Public Procurement Office to a special publication of the Office of Official Publications of the European Communities or to the official gazette “Valstybes žinios” (supplement “Informaciniai pranešimai”) or the date of dispatch of the invitations to candidates.

3. All minimum time-limits for the receipt of requests or tenders fixed by the contracting authority may not be shorter than those set in Articles 44, 46, 52 or 75 of this Law, and shall be sufficiently long to give interested parties reasonable time for drawing up and submitting their tenders. When fixing these time limits, the contracting authority shall take account of the complexity of the public procurement and the time required for drawing up requests and tenders.

4. If, for whatever reason, the contract documents or parts thereof, although requested in good time, have not been supplied within the time-limits fixed in Article 27 of this Law, or where it transpires after the submission of contract documents that tenders can be made only after a visit to the site or after on-the-spot inspection of the documents supporting the contract documents, the contracting authority shall extend the time-limits for the receipt of tenders so that all suppliers concerned are aware of all the information needed to produce a tender and notify thereof by fine-tuning the notice.

5. The contracting authority shall indicate in the contract documents, that the request or tender has to be submitted in writing and duly signed by the supplier or a person authorised by the supplier. It shall also request to submit the tenders in sealed and stamped envelopes. If the contracting authority intends to choose the most economically advantageous tender, in the contract documents it shall request the suppliers to submit two sealed and stamped envelopes: one with the price offer, the other with the remaining parts of the tender (technical data and other information and documents). The two envelopes shall be put into another sealed and stamped envelope. The pages of the tender (with supplements) must be numbered and bound, and endorsed by the supplier’s signature and seal on the backside of the last page. Only the tender security documents may be presented loose and not numbered. The requirement to submit the tender or parts thereof in envelopes and to submit the tender bound shall not be applicable if the contracting authority accepts tenders transmitted using the electronic means.

6. The requirement set in paragraph 5 of this Article to submit a tender in two envelopes shall not apply if the contract is awarded by way of negotiated procedure and by competitive dialogue. The contracting authority shall indicate in the contract documents that tenders should be submitted in a sealed and stamped envelope.

7. The requests and tenders may be dispatched by electronic means in compliance with the requirements set in a 17 of this Law.

8. Upon the supplier's request, the contracting authority shall furnish a confirmation of the receipt of the supplier’s request or tender by specifying the date and time of receipt.

9. The supplier may submit only one tender and where the contract is divided into lots each for each one of which a contract is intended to be awarded, the supplier shall submit to the contracting authority a tender for each lot except in cases where variants are allowed in the contract documents.

Article 29. Tender Validity Period. Modifying and Revoking Tenders

1. A tender shall be valid for a period of time specified by the supplier. The period may not be shorter than that set in the contract documents. If the tender does not specify the period of its validity, it shall be considered to be valid for the period indicated in the contract documents.

2. As long as the tender validity period has not expired, the contracting authority may request suppliers to extending the validity period until the specified date. Any supplier may reject such a request without losing his right to the tender security.

3. A supplier who agrees to extend the tender validity period and notifies the contracting authority thereof in writing, shall extend the validity period of the tender or provide a new tender security. If the supplier fails to respond to the request made by the contracting authority as regards extension of the tender validity period, or does not extend the validity period or fails to provide a new guarantee to secure the tender, then it shall be deemed that such supplier rejected the request of the contracting authority.

4. At any time before the deadline for receipt of tenders the supplier may modify or revoke his tender without losing the right to the security of his tender. Any such modification or notification about the tender being revoked shall be deemed valid, if the contracting authority received such notification before the deadline fixed for the receipt of tenders.

Article 30. Tender Security and Security for the Performance of the Contract

1. The contracting authority may request that the effectiveness of tenders, and the performance of the contract be guaranteed by the security for the performance of obligations, established by the Civil Code of the Republic of Lithuania.

2. The contracting authority may not reject the tender security or the security for the performance of the contract on the grounds that the security was issued not by an economic entity of the Republic of Lithuania, provided that the tender security and the security for the performance of the contract and the supplier who issued the security conform to the requirements set forth in the contract documents.

3. Prior to submitting a tender, a supplier may request the contracting authority to confirm that it finds the proposed tender security acceptable. In such case the contracting authority shall respond to the supplier's request within 3 working days from the receipt of the request. Such confirmation shall not preclude the contracting authority from rejecting the tender security upon receipt of information that the issuer has become insolvent or defaulted on its obligations to the contracting authority or other economic entities, or otherwise lacks creditworthiness.

Article 31. Opening of Tenders

1. Tenders shall be opened at the meeting of the Procurement Commission. The meeting shall be held at the place and tenders shall be opened on the day, at the hour specified in the contract documents. As used in this Law, the initial examination of the tenders received by electronic means shall be equivalent to the opening of tenders. The day and the hour must coincide with the deadline for receipt of tenders. The change of the deadline for receipt of tenders shall result in the change of the date for opening tenders. At the fixed time, the Commission shall open all tenders received within the time limits fixed for their submission. All suppliers who submitted tenders or their representatives shall have the right to be present during the tender opening procedure, except in cases where the contract is awarded by way of negotiated procedure with or without publication of a contract notice.

2. If the contracting authority chose to evaluate tenders as the most economically advantageous tenders, the tenders (except in cases of contract award by negotiated procedure and competitive dialogue) shall be opened at two meetings of the Procurement Commission. The envelopes containing technical offer and other information shall be opened during the first, and envelopes with the price offers - during the second meeting of the Commission. The second meeting may take place only after the contracting authority verifies the compliance with the technical and qualification requirements against the levels fixed in the contract documents, and assesses the technical merits of the tenders and, in cases specified in this Law, the qualification of suppliers. The contracting authority shall communicate in writing the results of such verification and assessment to all suppliers concerned, indicating the time and place of the second meeting Commission. Where the contracting authority, upon verifying and assessing the data submitted by the supplier in the first envelope, rejects the tender, the unopened envelope with the price offers together with other documents submitted by the supplier shall be preserved in the manner established in Article 21 of this Law.

3. Envelopes shall be opened by one member of the Commission in the presence of the suppliers who submitted their tenders or their representatives. Envelopes shall be opened even if the supplier or its representative is not present at the meeting.

Should at least one supplier or its representative request so, the Commission shall announce all technical data of the tender that will be taken into account when evaluating the tenders.

7. During the procedure of opening of envelopes with price offers, the Commission shall announce the company name of the supplier and the price offered to all the suppliers or their representatives present in the meeting. In case the contract price expressed in figures does not correspond to the price expressed in words, the price given in words shall be deemed correct.

10. During the opening of tenders the Commission may allow the interested suppliers or their authorised representatives, participating in the sitting, to remove the shortcomings of the binding or execution of the tenders.

11. The information announced during the envelope opening procedures shall be communicated in writing to all suppliers concerned who were not present, if they request so. Each supplier or its representative taking part in the envelope opening procedure shall have the right to examine the publicly announced information; however, when communicating such information, the contracting authority may not disclose the confidential information provided in the tender.

12. The subsequent tender analysis, evaluation and comparison procedures shall be conducted by the Commission alone, not in the presence of the suppliers.

Article 32. Verifying Suppliers' Qualification

1. The contracting authority must verify whether a supplier is competent, reliable and capable of executing the contract. Therefore the contracting authority may define in the contract

The minimum levels of qualification requirements shall be set following the provisions of Articles 35 to 37 of this Law.

2. The minimum levels of qualification requirements for candidates or tenderers fixed by the contracting authority may not have the restrictive effect on competition, and must be reasonable, clear and precise. The contracting authority may request from the suppliers only such information that is necessary to identify whether the supplier meets the financial, economic and technical requirements. The requirements may not prejudice the supplier's right to protect intellectual property, production or trade secrets. Requirements to the qualification, as well as to the information and documents to be supplied by the candidates or tenderers shall be set following the provisions of Articles 33, 34, 35 , 37 and 38 of this Law. 6. The contracting authority shall reject the request to participate or the tender of the candidate or tenderer, if his qualification is below the minimum level of qualification established in the contract documents, or if the candidate or tenderer failed to respond to the request of the contracting authority to revise the imprecise or incomplete information about its qualification.

7. The qualification of candidates or tenderers shall be assessed on the basis of the criteria and procedures set forth in the contract documents. The Commission shall take a decision on the qualification of each candidate or tenderer, and communicate in writing the results of verification to each candidate or tenderer. Only those candidates or tenderers shall be allowed to continue in the procurement procedure, the qualification whereof meets the qualification requirements of the contracting authority.

OTHER PROCUREMENT PROCEDURES

Article 64. Dynamic Purchasing System

2. In order to set up a dynamic purchasing system, contracting authority shall follow the rules of the open procedure in all its phases up to the award of the contracts to be concluded under this system. All the tenderers satisfying the selection criteria and having submitted an indicative tender which complies with the contract documents shall be admitted to the system. An indicative tender is a tender that may be improved at any time of the dynamic purchasing system provided that it continues to comply with the requirements set in the contract documents.

3. For the purposes of setting up the dynamic purchasing system, the contracting authority shall:

1) publish a contract notice following the procedure set in Article 22 and 23 of this Law, making it clear in the notice that a dynamic purchasing system shall be applied;

2) indicate in the contract documents, amongst other matters, the object of procurement envisaged under that system, as well as all the necessary information concerning the purchasing system, the electronic equipment used and the technical connection arrangements and specifications;

3) indicate in the notice the internet address at which such documents may be consulted on publication of the notice and up to the expiry of the system, being offered unrestricted, direct and full access to the specification and to any additional documents.

4. Contracting authorities shall give any supplier, throughout the entire period of the dynamic purchasing system, the possibility of submitting an indicative tender and of being admitted to the system under the conditions referred to in paragraph 2 of this Article. The contracting authority shall complete evaluation of the indicative tender within a maximum of 15 days from the date of its submission. The contracting authority shall have the right to extend the indicative tender evaluation period provided that no invitation to tender is issued in the meantime. The contracting authority shall inform the supplier without delay of its admittance to the dynamic purchasing system or of the rejection of its indicative tender.

5. Before issuing the invitation to tender, the contracting authority shall publish a simplified contract notice on the purchasing under the dynamic system and invite all interested suppliers to submit an indicative tender, in accordance with paragraph 4 of this Article, within a time limit that may not be less than 15 days from the date on which the simplified notice was sent from the Public Procurement Office. The contracting authority may not proceed with procurement procedures until it has completed evaluation of all the indicative tenders received by that deadline.

6. The contracting authority shall invite all suppliers admitted to the system to submit a tender for each specific contract to be awarded under the system. To that end it shall set a time limit for the submission of tenders.

7. On the basis of the award criteria set out in the contract notice for the establishment of the dynamic purchasing system the contracting authority shall establish the tenderer which submitted the best tender and award the contract to it. Those criteria may, if appropriate, be formulated more precisely in the invitation referred to in the paragraph 6 of this Article.

8. A dynamic purchasing system may not last for more than four years, except in cases duly justified by the contracting authority.

9. The contracting authority may not resort to the dynamic purchasing system to prevent, restrict or distort competition.

10. The contracting authority shall not bill any charges to the interested suppliers or to parties to the dynamic purchasing system.

Article 65. Electronic Auction

1. The contracting authority may use electronic auctions in open, restricted or negotiated procedures in the case referred to in subparagraph 1 of paragraph 1 of Article 55 of this Law. In the same circumstances, an electronic auction may be held on the reopening of competition among the parties to a framework agreement and on the opening for competition of contracts to be awarded under the dynamic purchasing system.

2. Tenders submitted to the electronic auction shall be evaluated on the basis of:

- 1) either solely on prices when the contract is awarded to the lowest price,
- 2) or on prices and/or on the new values of the features of the tenders indicated in the contract documents when the contract is awarded to the supplier who submitted the most economically advantageous tender.

3. The contracting authority, which decides to hold an electronic auction, shall state that fact in the contract notice. The notice shall include, inter alia, the following information:

1) the features, the values for which will be the subject of electronic auction, provided that such features are quantifiable and can be expressed in figures or percentages;

2) any limits on the values which may be submitted, as they result from the specifications relating to the subject of the contract;

3) the information which will be made available to tenderers in the course of the electronic auction and, where appropriate, when it will be made available to them;

4) the relevant information concerning the electronic auction process;

5) the conditions under which the tenderers will be able to bid and, in particular, the minimum differences which will, where appropriate, be required when bidding;

6) the relevant information concerning the electronic equipment used and the arrangements and technical specifications for connection.

4. Before proceeding with an electronic auction the contracting authority shall:

1) make a full initial evaluation of the tenders in accordance with the award criterion of the most economically advantageous tender and with the weighting fixed for them.

2) invite simultaneously by electronic means all tenderers who have submitted admissible tenders to submit new prices and/or new values. The invitation shall contain all relevant information concerning individual connection to the electronic equipment being used and shall state the date and time of the start of the electronic auction. The electronic auction may take place in a number of successive phases. The electronic auction may not start sooner than two working days after the date on which invitations are sent out.

5. When the contract is to be awarded on the basis of the most economically advantageous tender, the invitation shall be accompanied by the outcome of a full evaluation of the relevant tenderer. The invitation shall also state the mathematical formula to be used in the electronic auction to determine automatic rerankings on the basis of the new prices and/or new values submitted. That formula shall incorporate the weighting of all the criteria fixed to determine the most economically advantageous tender, as indicated in the contract notice or in other contract documents. Where variants are authorised, a separate formula shall be provided for each variant.

6. Throughout each phase of an electronic auction the contracting authority shall instantaneously communicate to all tenderers at least sufficient information to enable them to ascertain their relative rankings at any moment. They may also communicate other information concerning other prices or values submitted, provided that that is stated in the contracts documents. It may also at any time announce the number of participants in that phase of the auction. In no case, however, may it disclose the identities of the tenderers during any phase of an electronic auction.

7. The contracting authority shall close an electronic auction in one or more of the following manners:

1) in the invitation to take part in the auction it shall indicate the date and time fixed in advance;

2) when it receives no more new prices or new values which meet the requirements concerning minimum differences. In that event, the contracting authority shall state in the invitation to take part in the auction the time which it will allow to elapse after receiving the last submission before it closes the electronic auction;

3) when the number of phases in the auction, fixed in the invitation to take part in the auction, has been completed. When the contracting authority has decided to close an electronic auction in accordance with this subparagraph, or possibly in combination with the arrangements laid down in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, the invitation to take part in the auction shall indicate the timetable for each phase of the auction.

8. After closing an electronic auction the contracting authority shall determine the winner on the basis of the results of the electronic auction who will be awarded the contract.

9. The contracting authority may not have improper recourse to electronic auctions nor may it use them in such a way as to prevent, restrict or distort competition or to change the subject of the contract, as indicated in the published contract notice and defined in other contract documents.

Article 66. Public Works Contracts: Particular Rules on Subsidised Housing Schemes

1. In the case of public contracts relating to the design and construction of a subsidised housing scheme the size and complexity of which, and the estimated duration of the work involved require that planning be based from the outset on close collaboration within a team comprising representatives of the contracting authorities, experts and the contractor to be responsible for carrying out the works, special rules may be adopted for selecting the contractor most suitable for integration into the team. The rules shall be approved according to Articles 3, 17, 19, 22, 23, 27, 28, 33 to 38 and 41 of this Law.

2. Furthermore, the contracting authority shall state in the contract notice the selection criteria set for the suppliers.

SECTION EIGHT DESIGN CONTESTS

Article 67. Cases Justifying the Use of the Design Contest Procedure

Article 68. Conducting a Design Contest

1. A design contest shall be advertised following the provisions in Articles 18 and 19.
2. The design contest shall be conducted in order to determine the supplier/suppliers who submitted the best plan or design (usually of area planning, architecture, civil engineering or data processing), where it is intended:
 - 1) to award a service contract to the winner of the contest;
 - 2) to provide prizes to the winner or winners of the contest, or other rewards for participation. In this case the contracting authority may continue the services contract award procedure by means of the negotiated procedure without publication of a contract notice, inviting to negotiate the winner or all winners (top rated tenderers) of the contest.
3. Both legal and natural persons shall be allowed to take part in the design contest.
4. The admission of tenderers to design contests shall not be limited by reference to the specific territory or other restriction of discriminatory nature.
5. The final date fixed for receipt of tenders in the contract documents may not be shorter than 52 days after the date of dispatching the design contest notice for publication from the Public Procurement Office.

6. The contracting authority may decide to conduct pre-qualification selection of candidates to be invited to submit their designs or projects. In such event, the contracting authority shall fix non-discriminatory qualification criteria capable of ensuring the genuine competition.

7. The Government of the Republic of Lithuania or the institution authorised by it shall approve the rules for organising a design contest.

Article 69. The Jury

The jury shall be composed exclusively of natural persons who are independent of tenderers in the contest. Only natural persons of impeccable reputation who have signed a declaration of impartiality and a statement of confidentiality shall be appointed chairman and members of the jury. Where a particular professional qualification is required from participants in a contest, at least a third of the members of the jury shall have that qualification. The jury shall take decisions only at the sitting. Complete minutes shall be drawn up of the sittings of the jury.

2. The jury shall be autonomous in its decisions or opinions. Only anonymously submitted projects shall be evaluated (the jury may find out the name of the tenderer only after the jury has taken a decision as regards the best design or project).

3. The submitted designs and projects shall be evaluated subject to the evaluation criteria set forth in the contract documents, and these shall not be necessarily based on the lowest price or the highest economic advantage. The jury shall record its ranking of projects in a report, signed by its members, made according to the merits of each project, together with its remarks and any points which may need clarification.

4. After the jury reaches a consensus or makes a decision candidates may be invited, if need be, to answer questions which the jury has recorded in the minutes. Complete minutes shall be drawn up of the dialogue between jury members and candidates.
