Corporate bonds, bondholders and corporate governance
Corporate bond markets have become an increasingly important source of financing for non-financial companies. Using a unique data set of more than 100,000 individual bond issues in 108 countries, this report provides a comprehensive global overview of all corporate bond issues since 2000.

Policy guidance for investment in clean energy infrastructure
Investments in clean energy infrastructure will need to be scaled up significantly in the coming years to support the broader development, economic and climate agenda. This guidance provides policy makers with a non-prescriptive tool to help them to mobilise investment in clean energy infrastructure.

Placing integrity at the heart of business culture
Inclusiveness, implementation and investment are at the centre of Turkey’s G20 Presidency. The 5th Anti-corruption conference for G20 governments and business in Istanbul on 6 March will address how all businesses can play their part in contributing to growth and investment, and can operate with clean hands in a safe environment.

Investment treaties: Policy goals and public support
Why do we have investment treaties, what changes are we making to them and how do we manage change? These questions and others will be addressed by policy makers and treaty negotiators at a Conference on investment treaties in Paris on 16 March. This event is organised by the OECD-hosted Freedom of Investment Roundtable.

Curbing corruption - investing in growth
The 2015 Integrity Forum takes place at the OECD on 25-26 March. Debates will review existing anti-corruption mechanisms across the investment policy cycle and explore good practices in mitigating corruption and ensuring that investment remains pertinent and efficient for stakeholders.

Examining how multinational enterprises channel investments
The OECD is currently implementing new international standards for compiling FDI statistics that have resulted in significant changes. This note explains how the new standards will allow us to monitor how multinational enterprises channel investments through multiple countries.
