

Daniel Kosicki joined the Financial Services Policy unit of the Internal Market and Services Directorate General of the European Commission in 2005. His key responsibilities have included the evaluation of the economic impact of the EU Financial Services Action Plan and contributing to the European Financial Integration Report. As of 2008 he is also responsible for financial education. Before starting at the European Commission he worked at the National Bank of Poland, Financial System Department (2004-2005) and at the Polish Ministry of Infrastructure (2002). He graduated from the Warsaw School of Economics – SGH (2001), the Polish-French Program of European Studies SGH-Sciences Po Paris (2001) and the College of Europe (2003). Daniel is Polish and is married with two children.