

Prof. John PIGGOTT

Australian School of Business, University of New South Wales

John Piggott is Professor of Economics in the Australian School of Business, University of New South Wales, and Director of the university's Australian Institute for Population Ageing Research. He has a long standing interest in public finance, and in the economic and financial aspects of population aging, including especially retirement and pension economics and finance. His policy experience includes membership of both the Henry Tax Review Panel and the Australian Ministerial Superannuation Advisory Committee, and he has also consulted to governments internationally.