

PARTICIPATING IN THE GLOBAL RELATIONS TAX PROGRAMME

The OECD seeks to encourage a truly global perspective on taxation by interacting with all interested countries, through the Global Relations Programme. Closer engagement with non-OECD economies is essential to enable tax officials to benefit from the perspectives and experiences developed within and beyond the borders of the OECD.

What does the Programme offer?

- A mechanism for all interested countries, to share experiences on common issues and develop solutions to emerging challenges in tax policy and administration.
- Over 70 week-long events per year, directed towards the needs of participating countries and addressing issues of particular relevance to them.
- Dialogue based on the expertise of the OECD's Committee on Fiscal Affairs in tax treaties, transfer pricing, international tax avoidance and evasion, exchange of information, consumption taxes, financial innovations and institutions, as well as tax administration.
- Opportunity to benefit from panels of serving government specialists from OECD and non-OECD economies.
- World-wide coverage. Events are held at the OECD's five Multilateral Tax Centres (MTCs) administered in partnership with Austria, Hungary, Korea, Mexico and Turkey. Others are hosted by partner countries in Africa, Europe, Asia, Middle East and Latin America, in collaboration with regional tax organisations.

CTPA's GLOBAL RELATIONS

The OECD's Centre for Tax Policy and Administration (CTPA) is the focal point for the Organisation's work on taxation. The Centre provides technical expertise and support to the Committee on Fiscal Affairs covering international and domestic tax issues, direct and indirect taxes, tax policy and tax administration.

The CTPA's Global Relations Programme acts as a bridge between OECD member countries and non-OECD economies to ensure these economies have a voice in developing international tax standards and guidelines.
