

Dr Gahan heads the Regulation, Trade, and Policy Department in Forfás. Earlier, he was a co-founder and director of an international consultancy in regulatory reform, and he carried out many assignments for international and national organisations in regulation and competitiveness policy. Previously, in Forfás, he directed the research of the National Competitiveness Council and instituted Annual Competitiveness Reports. Earlier, he was a senior official in UNIDO, Vienna, Austria, dealing with regional and national strategies for industrialisation, technology analysis and economic forecasting. He was also Coordinator of the United Nations Industrial Development Decade for Africa.