

Mr. Rob Rusconi
Self-employed independent, Johannesburg, South Africa

Rob Rusconi is a self-employed independent actuary based in Johannesburg, South Africa, with working experience in health care financing, insurance, investments and pensions. Rob carries out research and consulting in areas of pension provision and regulation, and related social security programs. He serves a variety of local and international clients, including a number of pension funds, the governments of South Africa and Namibia, the private pensions unit of the OECD, and not-for-profit FinMark Trust, which seeks to make markets work better for the poor in Sub-Saharan Africa.