

Hilary Bowker - Principal, Bowker Media + Communications

Former CNN Anchor, Hilary Bowker uses the moderating skills honed by twenty years in broadcast journalism to help organisations make their conferences, seminars and meetings interactive and engaging. She brings to the table the experience of interviewing and chairing debates between world leaders in politics, diplomacy, business, the arts, academia, industry, the military and science.

Bowker organizes the content and runs meetings for both the public and private sector, as well as advising on communications strategy. She also works on selected documentary and video projects.

