

Dr. John Chiang is a Visiting Professor at the Department of Management and Technology, Peking University, China, as well as being a Partner at DragonBridge Capital, a boutique investment firm investing in local start-ups. He has had more than 25 years experience in the ICT sector in a number of companies including AT&T Bell Laboratories, Hayes Microcomputer Products, GTE Mobilnet, KG Telecommunications and finally Motorola China, where he served as President of Motorola (China) Technologies, from 2004-2005. Dr. Chiang received his PhD from the John Hopkins University and Executive MBA from Georgia State University, both in US.