

Corrigenda

Page 23:

The figure “Where people lost their jobs in Europe, 2009-10”, has been replaced. The correct figure reads:

See also <http://dx.doi.org/10.1787/888932484835>.

Page 52:

The figure source “Biggest net CO2 importers and exporters, 2005”, should include:

<http://www.oecd.org/sti/inputoutput/co2>.

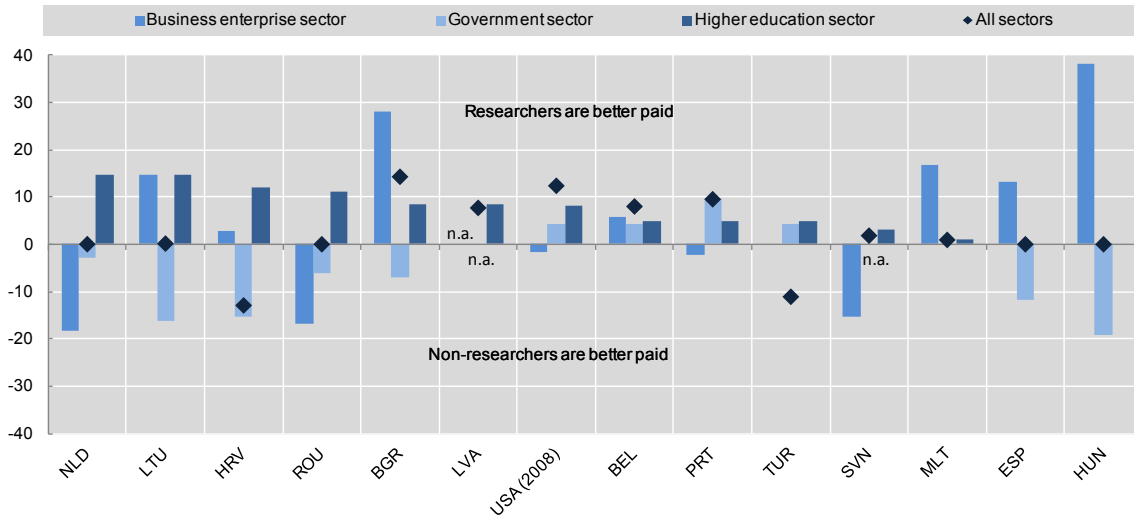

Page 53:

Figure title should be: “Government R&D spending for energy and the environment [...]”.

The figure “Difference in median gross annual earnings of doctorate holders working as researchers and as non-researchers, 2009”, has been replaced. The correct figure reads:

Difference in median gross annual earnings of doctorate holders working as researchers and as non-researchers, 2009

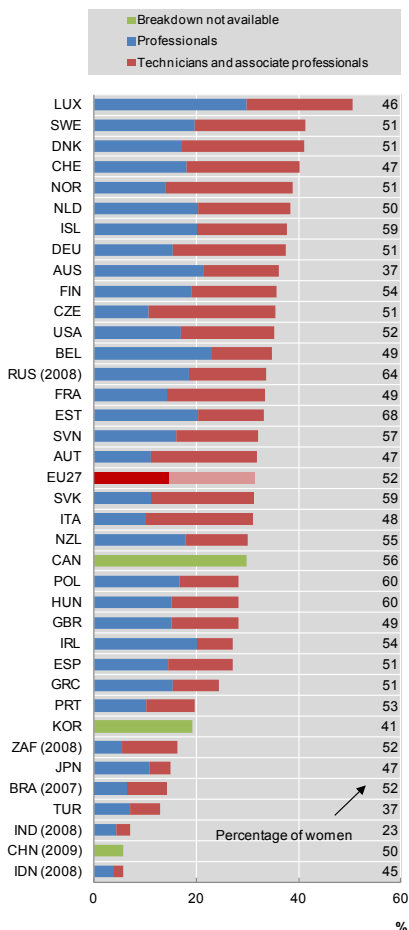

As a percentage of median gross annual earnings of doctorate holders not working as researchers

See also <http://dx.doi.org/10.1787/888932485823>.

Page 72: The figure “HRST occupations, 2010”, has been replaced. The correct figure reads:

HRST occupations, 2010
As a percentage of total employment

The revised text reads:

“[...] The share was over 40% in Luxembourg, Sweden, Denmark and Switzerland; in India, China and Indonesia, HRST workers accounted for less than 10% of total employment.”

See also <http://dx.doi.org/10.1787/888932485842>

Page 172:

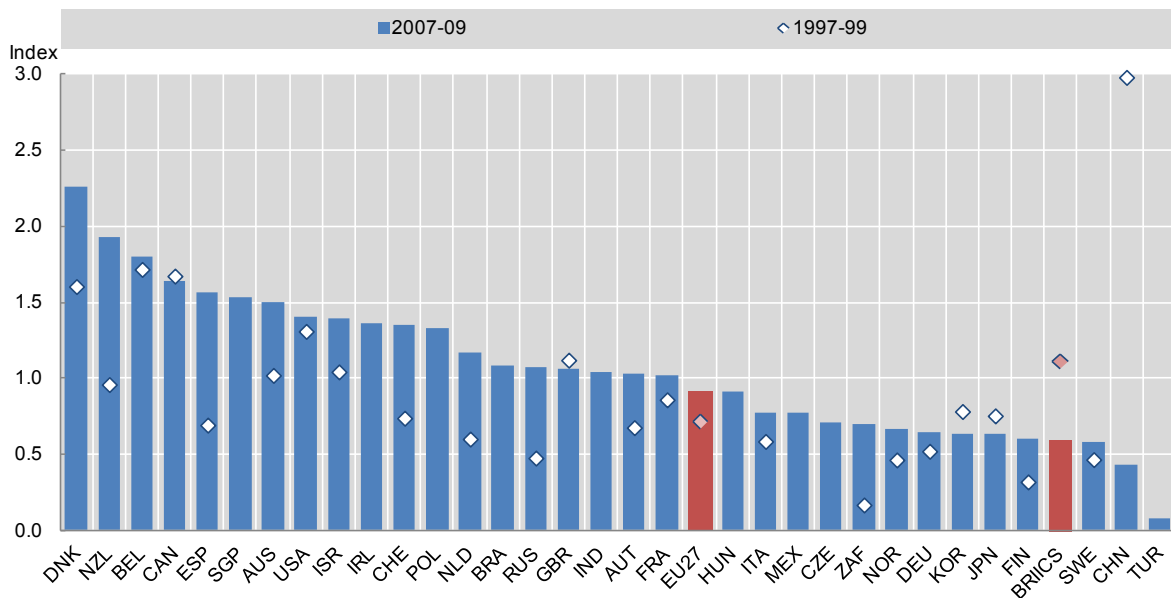

The legend in the figure “Industrial specialisation, 1998 and 2008” has been corrected. The correct legend reads:

- x > 10 : Diversification
- 6 < x < 10 : Moderate diversification
- x < 6 : Moderate specialisation

Page 183:

The figure “Revealed technological advantage in biotechnologies, 1997-99 and 2007-09”, has been replaced. The correct figure reads:

Revealed technological advantage in biotechnologies, 1997-99 and 2007-09
Index based on patent applications filed under the PCT

See also <http://dx.doi.org/10.1787/888932487989>.