

Ms. Lee Tuthill, WTO

Lee Tuthill is responsible for negotiations on telecommunications, computer and IT services, and GIS/electronic commerce issues with the World Trade Organization (WTO). She has served in the Secretariat of the WTO and its predecessor, the GATT, since 1990. Ms. Tuthill has frequently lectured and conducted technical assistance seminars on GATS, electronic commerce, and telecommunications, focussing on the implications of the WTO services agreement (GATS) and the new multilateral trade round for developing countries. She has written a number of articles, including "The GATS and New Rules for Regulators" in Telecommunications Policy (1997) and "Telecommunications and IT Services in the Multilateral Trade System", Connect-World Asia & Connect-World Latin America (1999). Prior to joining the GATT/WTO, she worked as an economist covering GATT affairs and other trade policy matters for the U.S. Government (U.S. International Trade Commission) for nearly seven years.

She holds a Masters of International Affairs from Columbia University.
