

Rebecca Sudworth
Department for Work and Pensions
United Kingdom

Rebecca Sudworth is a Senior Civil Servant in the Department for Work and Pensions, responsible for government policy on disability and work. This includes employment programmes such as Pathways to Work that support people on incapacity benefits back into work, and specialist support programmes for people with the most severe and complex disability-related barriers to work.

Rebecca joined the civil service in 2001 as a senior policy analyst in the Treasury. Her work at the Treasury covered a wide range of public policy areas, including short, focused policy projects on areas of Government policy relating to the UK productivity agenda, time spent working on Euro preparations and a spell working on national insurance and contributory benefits.

Before becoming a civil servant, Rebecca worked in publishing and also in the charity sector.