
Andrew Barker

Economist

Country Studies Division
Economics Department
Organisation for Economic Development and Cooperation

Contact information

Andrew.Barker@oecd.org

Education

Master of Commerce (Economics), The University of Melbourne, 2009
Bachelor of Commerce (1st class honours, economics), The University of Melbourne, 2003
Bachelor of Engineering (1st class honours), The University of Melbourne, 2002

Professional experience

OECD, 2016-present
Australian Productivity Commission, 2004-2010 and 2012-2016
Redpoint Energy/Baringa Partners, 2011

Selected publications

Increasing Inclusiveness for Women, Youth and Seniors in Canada, OECD Economics Department Working Paper, No. 1519, OECD Publishing, 2018.

Improving Productivity in New Zealand's Economy, OECD Economics Department Working Paper, No. 1419, OECD Publishing, 2017.

Local Labour Markets and Unemployment Duration, Economic Record, Vol. 93, Iss. 301, pp. 238-254, June 2017 (with Matthew Forbes).

Modelling the Impact of Transmission Charging Options, Redpoint Energy Report for Ofgem, 2011 (with Duncan Sinclair and Nick Screen)

Developing a Partial Equilibrium Model of an Urban Water System, Productivity Commission Staff Working Paper, 2010 (with Tim Murray and John Salerian).

Effects of Health and Education on Wages, Productivity Commission Staff Working Paper, 2010 (with Matthew Forbes and Stewart Turner).

The Stern Review: An Assessment of its Methodology, Productivity Commission Staff Working Paper, 2008 (with Rick Baker, Michael Kohlhaas and Alan Johnston).

Towards Urban Water Reform, Australian Economic Review, Vol. 41, Iss. 4, December 2008 (with Neil Byron, Alan Johnston and Rick Baker).