Update on the GNE meeting in Oslo

5th ANNUAL MEETING OF THE GNE: The meeting of the Group of National Experts on Effective Learning Environments took place on 9-10 October 2017 in Oslo, Norway. The meeting was hosted by the Norwegian Directorate of Education and Training.

The focus of the GNE meeting evolved around the draft Field Trial Report and the perspectives of the future work of OECD in the area of physical learning environments. The LEEP module was well received as an individual school assessment tool.

Furthermore, the Group had long and fruitful discussions about the long-term vision and strategy of the project, the strategic priorities, its relation to the Sustainable Development Goals [in particular to SDG 4 - 4.a] and possible ways to further expand its network.

TRANSITIONS 17: OECD participated in the conference “TRANSITIONS: Inhabiting innovative learning environments” organised by the University of Melbourne. The event took place on 7 September 2017 in London.

The University of Melbourne has created a network titled LEaRN = Learning Environments Applied Research Network and they have launched the iletc project [Innovative Learning Environments and Teacher Change]. TRANSITIONS are a public research conference providing an opportunity for selected graduate and early career researchers to present their research across an international audience. TRANSITIONS is an event organised under iletc.

The proceedings of the TRANSITIONS 17 events are uploaded here.
TRANSITIONS 18: The University of Melbourne has announced the three events under the title “TRANSITIONS 18”. Transitions18 continues to address the critical need to share what is covered by the research, across three major continents and connect with other researchers and professionals.

- 1 June @ Arts West Building, University of Melbourne, Melbourne, Australia
- 8-9 October @ Canyon View High School, Phoenix, Arizona
- 15-16 October @ University College, Copenhagen, Denmark

DESIGNING THE CLASSROOM TO MATCH 21ST CENTURY TEACHING

Read this article featured by the Australian Research Council of the Australian Government, which summarises the work to date and recent findings of the Learning Environments Applied Research Network (LEaRN) group.

Educational researchers based at the University of Melbourne are studying how innovations in school architecture affect student learning, and develop tools which are helping teachers to bridge the gap between the educational potential of classroom designs, and their actual performance.
DEMOLITION OF UNUSABLE SCHOOL BUILDINGS IN NEW ZEALAND: Read this article about the school buildings in New Zealand that are not fit for purpose and will have to be knocked down.

THE BIG CLASSROOM EXPERIMENT: Read this article from The Economist about how a third of England’s schools have taken part in randomised controlled trials. The struggle is getting teachers to pay attention to the evidence.

IMPROVING INFRASTRUCTURE OUTCOMES THROUGH BETTER CAPITAL ALLOCATION: Read this article published by McKinsey & Company. In an age of fiscal uncertainty, US cities and states must optimise capital allocation to improve infrastructure planning.
AN EXPERT'S VIEW: SIR KEN ROBINSON: Read this interview in the new Learning sections of The New York Times that features a question- and-answer segment with an education expert.

What is LEEP

LEARNING ENVIRONMENTS EVALUATION PROGRAMME [LEEP] was launched in 2013 and it seeks to broaden and re-focus the work of the OECD Centre for Effective Learning Environments (CELE) by examining the relationship between a range of policy levers that shape the learning environment and educational and other outcomes.

The OECD School User Survey consists of three questionnaires and was finalised in December 2017. The questionnaires are targeted to the students, teachers and school leaders.
