

The role of the 2015 agreement in mobilising climate finance and enhancing action on adaptation

Thursday 4th December, 15:30 – 17:30

EU Pavilion, Room Brussels

The event will discuss two central pillars of the post 2015 agreement: mobilising climate finance and the role of climate change adaptation.

Facilitators: Jacob Werksman (CCXG Chair) and Gottfried von Gemmingen (Co-Chair of the OECD Task Team on Climate Change and Development)

15.30 – 16.30: The role of the 2015 agreement in mobilising climate finance

The OECD/IEA Climate Change Expert Group will present new analysis showing how the agreement could address challenges in the following areas: (i) current international institutional arrangements, (ii) in-country policy and regulatory environments, (iii) financial instruments and tools, and (iv) methodologies for transparency.

- Jane Ellis, OECD (presenter)
- Smita Nakhooda, ODI (panellist)
- Jan-Willem van de Ven, EBRD (panellist)

16.30 – 17.30: The role of the 2015 agreement in enhancing adaptation

The second part will include a presentation and panel discussion on how the 2015 agreement can support climate change adaptation, building on OECD's work in this area. This will focus on: i) progress of national initiatives to set goals and strategies for adaptation; ii) overcoming key barriers to building climate resilience; and iii) the evolving role of development co-operation in supporting adaptation.

- Michael Mullan, and Jan Corfee-Morlot, OECD (presenters)
- Mariana Rojas Laserna, Colombia (invited) (panellist)
- David Kaluba, Zambia (panellist)
- Heather McGray, WRI (panellist)

This event is preceded by an OECD side event on “Tracking Public and Private Climate Finance” (13:00-15:00). See: www.oecd.org/env/cc/cop20.htm
