INTERNATIONAL MORROCCO - OECD CONFERENCE
OPEN GOVERNMENT
& ACCESS TO INFORMATION
Agenda

Wednesday, 13 March 2019
Salé, Palais des Congrès Le Bouregreg
The OECD

The Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) is an international body that promotes policies to improve the economic and social well-being of people around the world. It is made up of 36 member countries, a secretariat in Paris, and a committee, drawn from experts from government and other fields, for each work area covered by the Organisation. The OECD provides a forum in which governments can work together to share experiences and seek solutions to common problems. We collaborate with governments to understand what drives economic, social and environmental change. We measure productivity and global flows of trade and investment.

The MENA-OECD Governance Programme

The MENA-OECD Governance Programme is a strategic partnership between MENA and OECD countries to share knowledge and expertise, with a view of disseminating standards and principles of good governance that support the ongoing process of reform in the MENA region. The Programme strengthens collaboration with the most relevant multilateral initiatives currently underway in the region. In particular, the Programme supports the implementation of the G7 Deauville Partnership and assists governments in meeting the eligibility criteria to become a member of the Open Government Partnership. Through these initiatives, the Programme acts as a leading advocate of managing ongoing public governance reforms in the MENA region. The Programme provides a sustainable structure for regional policy dialogue as well as for country specific projects. These projects correspond to the commitment of MENA governments to implement public sector reforms in view of unlocking social and economic development and of meeting citizens' growing expectations in terms of quality services, inclusive policy making and transparency.

11.30 - 13.00  Parallel session 1: Open government as a lever for inclusiveness

Room LES OUDAYAS

Citizens around the world are demanding that their voices be heard and that governments respond to their needs. Open government, which puts citizens at the heart of public governance by making them a partner in the design, implementation and evaluation of public policies, is a response to these demands. By joining the Open Government Partnership and developing action plans in consultation with civil society and citizens, countries are putting in place an open government approach. What are the success factors for such a partnership with citizens? Which guidelines does the OECD Recommendation on Open Government provide?

Moderator:

- Mr Ahmed Laamoumri, Ministry of Reform of the Administration & Civil Service, Morocco

Participants:

- Ms Sarah Lamrani, Ministry of reform of the administration and civil service, Morocco
- Ms Cecile Le Guen, Datactivist France
- Mr Oumar El Foutiyou Ba, Secretary General, Ministry of Good Governance and Child Promotion, Senegal
- Mr Khaled Sellami, OGP Point of Contact, Director-General, E-Government Unit, Ministry of Civil Service, Modernisation of the Administration and Policies, Tunisia
- Mr Theophilous Chiviru, Open Government Partnership
11.30 - 13.00 Parallel session 2: The role of access to information to promote transparency

Room WALILI

At a time when disinformation is circulating in social networks and citizens have less and less confidence in their governments and the media, access to information is crucial to rebuild citizens’ trust. By allowing access to information of public administrations, a more effective public debate is possible. Access to information is additionally recognized as promoting transparency and participation and supporting the fight against corruption. However, enacting access to information laws is only a first step. How can a culture of openess be created within the public administration? What conditions and prerequisites are needed to guarantee this right? And what role can civil society play?

Moderator:

• Mr Jamal Salaheddine, Ministry of Reform of the Administration & Civil Service, Morocco

Participants:

• Mr Joel Salas Suárez, Commissioner, National Institute for Transparency, Access to Information and Personal Data Protection, Mexico
• Mr Adnène Lassoued, Vice-President, Access to Information Authority, Tunisia
• Mr Assaad Thebian, Director, Gherbal Initiative, Lebanon
• Ms Chantal Angoua, OGP Point of Contact, Technical Advisor, Ministry of Industry and Mines, Ivory Coast
The adoption of a law on the right of access to information leads to real change if the public administration is well prepared for its implementation. Which reforms and changes are therefore needed within the administration? How can a culture of openness within the whole administration be created? What role do civil society and access to information commissions play in preparing the administration? What is the role of information officers?

Moderator:
- Rita Stephan, Program Director, Middle East Partnership Initiative, United States

Participants:
- Mr Hatim Mouradi, Ministry of reform of the administration and civil service, Morocco
- Mr Ghassan Moukheiber, Lebanon
- Mr Saad Filali Meknassi, access to information expert
- Mr Lech Marcinkowski, SIGMA, OECD
- Ms Ena’am Yousef Mutawe, Director of Public Relations and Media, Secretary of Information Council, Jordan
- Mr Adnène Lassoued, Vice-President, Access to Information Authority, Tunisia
- Mr Joel Salas Suárez, Commissioner, National Institute for Transparency, Access to Information and Personal Data Protection, Mexico
14.30 - 17.00  Parallel workshop 2:
The role of media for open government
