

Dr Maura Farrell

National University of Ireland, Galway

Ireland

Dr Maura Farrell is a full time lecturer in the Discipline of Geography and Director of a Master Programme in Rural Sustainability at the National University of Ireland, Galway. The lead researcher with Ireland's National Rural Network, Maura's research focuses on rural and agricultural geography, with a particular focus on processes of social, cultural and economic change for rural inhabitants.