ICITE 3rd Regional Conference

Overview

Trade, jobs and inclusive development have emerged as interrelated policy concerns for countries in the Africa region. This conference will provide a platform for presentation of cutting-edge, policy-related research on these issues as a basis for dialogue among stakeholders, including senior representatives from partner organisations in the ICITE consortium, national representatives, social partners and other experts. The conference will aim to take stock of what is known from the empirical research and policy experience with a view to highlighting a positive agenda going forward. The ICITE conference in Africa is designed to consider these issues taking into account the regional specificities.

Recent studies have confirmed the potential of trade liberalisation to deliver improved labour market outcomes, while also noting that realization of the full benefits of openness requires a coherent policy framework that facilitates structural adjustment and addresses labour market and social concerns. A joint report by OECD, ILO, World Bank and WTO, entitled Seizing the Benefits of Trade for Employment and Growth, noted that subject to such conditions there remains substantial potential for further liberalization of trade in goods and services to contribute to improved economic performance. Implementation of such an agenda requires consideration of regional and national specificities with respect to economic structure, institutions, factor endowments and other dimensions. This ICITE regional conference will provide an opportunity to consider these issues from a variety of perspectives.
