e-FrameNet / Wikiprogress
European Network on Measuring Progress

Donatella Fazio
e-Frame Project Manager
Italian National Institute of Statistics

This project is funded by the European Union under the 7th Research Framework Programme (Theme SSH-2011-3) Grant Agreement nr 290520 e-FrameNet hosted by Wikiprogress constitutes the European Network on Measuring Progress envisaged by the e-Frame project - European Framework for Measuring Progress, financed by the European Union under the 7th Research Framework Programme.

e-Frame project (duration January 2012- June 2014) is based on a 19-partner European consortium, chaired by the Italian National Institute of Statistics (Istat) and Statistics Netherlands (CBS).

e-Frame project has the aim to carry on “coordinating and support actions” to spread knowledge, with particular attention at the European level, on large parts of the issues related to the measurement of well-being and progress beyond GDP dealing with methodological and theoretical aspects of new indicators.

e-Frame project envisages three main cross-cutting outputs as a synthesis of its activities: Stocktaking - Handbook - Roadmap for future research needs.
e-Frame Network/Wikiprogress was launched at the European Conference on Measuring Well-Being and Fostering the Progress of Societies, 26-28 June 2012, Paris, the Initial Conference of e-Frame

e-Frame Network/Wikiprogress is set up with the objective to contribute to the establishment of a European position on the topics of the measurement of well-being and societal progress raised by the e-Frame project and to enlarge and foster the debate towards the global frontier of wikiprogress platform

e-Frame Network/Wikiprogress aims at:

▪ connecting stakeholders, researchers, civil society organisations and policy makers on the ongoing debate on measurement of well-being and societal progress
▪ involving stakeholders in the activities of e-Frame project ▪ facilitating the dissemination of the results reached by projects on the thematic of beyond GDP
e-Frame Network/Wikiprogress is designed so that members of the Network can communicate through the e-Frame website and the WikiProgress platform.

To build the interrelation between e-Frame and Wikiprogress:

- At home page of www.eframeproject.eu link to www.wikiprogress.org
- At home page of Wikiprogress link to a dedicated section of e-Frame Network as the ‘Wikiprogress Europe’ platform among the other well-being Networks.

e-Frame Network/Wikiprogress will set up activities to respond to the needs raised by the on-going debate on measuring progress and well-being within e-Frame project and between other related projects:

- Online debates/webinars around specific topics and in preparation for events
- Guest bloggers/articles invited on chosen topics
- Invite researchers on community initiatives to share information on their projects
- Focus on issues specific to the European well-being and progress, and on differences within and between other regions.
To join the e-Frame European Network

➢ Step 1 at www.eframeproject.eu

Become a member of e-Frame Net subscribing the registration form at e-Frame website

✓ The members are organised in a data base, managed by Istat, which enable the creation of
  - a general mailing list for e-Frame debate and activities
  - specific mailing lists for fields of interest

✓ The members receive alerts of the news of e-Frame project and of others projects and activities related to the topics of the project carried on at European level

✓ The members will be asked to contribute to the initiatives of the project

✓ A member of the network can ask the Network Manager (Istat) to alert others members of the Network on its initiatives
To join the e-Frame European Network
➢ Step 2 at www.wikiprogress.org

Complete the registration joining Wikiprogress to adhere to the dedicated session on the European Network on Measuring Progress

✓ The Wikiprogress dedicated session on e-Frame Net represents a platform for knowledge sharing on measuring well-being and progress in the European context with the aim to

- create a community to share a vision on how to measure the progress of societies in Europe
- create a dedicated space where European data and research articles on well-being and progress can be loaded, visualised and analysed
- invite and inform all parts of the community about the debate on progress and well-being
