City Water Profile
Bobo-Dioulasso, Burkina Faso

Obstacles to water governance

- Lack of monitoring and evaluation of public policies
- Lack of staff
- Lack of funding
- Low citizen awareness
- Weak enforcement
- Weak public procurement processes
- Political interference
- Lack of conflict resolution mechanism
- Weak basin governance
- Competing water uses
- Incomplete, fragmented data
- Low level of investment
- Lack of policy coherence
- Fragmentation of municipal authorities

Megatrends affecting water management

- Demographic changes
- Urbanisation
- Economic development
- Food insecurity
- Global shocks
- Climate change

Policy areas influencing urban water management

- Land use and spatial planning
- Agriculture
- Building codes and housing
- Manufacturing industry
- Solid waste management

Water risks

- Competition over water allocation
- Floods
- Droughts
- Water pollution
- Access to water and sanitation
- Ageing or missing infrastructure
- Water borne diseases

Somehow important
Important
Very important
Foster cooperation with cities and/or national governments

Develop legal or regulatory frameworks

Raise citizen awareness on water risks

Build, operate or maintain water infrastructure

Enhance stakeholder engagement

Catalyse water financing

Build capacity of officials and stakeholders