Many MoUs have provisions on informal communication between the parties. They often stipulate that communication may be carried out via telephone, email, video conference or other methods as appropriate, thereby enabling agencies to communicate in a timely and flexible manner.

MoUs often require designating a contact point/liaison/communications officer for each party for the purpose of facilitating effective communication.

Notifications of Competition Investigations or Proceedings

V. RECOMMENDS that an Adherent should ordinarily notify another Adherent when its investigation or proceeding can be expected to affect the other Adherent’s important interests.

2. The notification should be made by the competition authority of the investigating Adherent through the channels requested by each Adherent as indicated in a list to be established and periodically updated by the Competition Committee; to the extent possible, Adherents should favour notifications directly to competition authorities. Notifications should be in writing, using any effective and appropriate means of communication, including e-mail. To the extent possible without prejudicing an investigation or proceeding, the notification should be made when it becomes evident that another Adherent’s important interests are likely to be affected, and with sufficient detail so as to permit an initial evaluation by the notified Adherent of the likelihood of effects on its important interests.
