

17TH INTERNATIONAL ECONOMIC FORUM ON AFRICA

PARIS, 4 OCTOBER 2017

2017 terms and conditions

The following Terms and Conditions / Rules apply to the 2017 OECD Africa Forum Video Competition. By participating in this Competition, you undertake to comply with and abide by these Rules and provide all information required. You understand that any failure to do so will result in disqualification.

The Challenge

To make a short video (3 minutes maximum) that addresses the theme:

Entrepreneurs in Africa:

What does it mean to be an entrepreneur in Africa today? What does your day-to-day life look like as an entrepreneur in your country? What are the difficulties that you encounter and what policies would help your enterprise? What are your views on the future of entrepreneurs in your country?

To Participate

Complete and submit this electronic Registration Form (including a private link to the video on YouTube) by 23:59 (Paris time) on Monday, 4 September 2017. Any Registration Forms received after this date will not be considered for a prize, under any circumstances.

About You

To be eligible for prizes, you must be resident in Africa and aged 18-35 years during the period of this competition (31 July 2017 to 4 October 2017). Proof of identity and residency may be required from all finalists.

If you are a member of OECD staff (either permanent or temporary, current or former), intern, contractor, sponsor, or an immediate family member of any of the foregoing, you may participate, but are not eligible to win.

About your Video

- Your video must be no more than 3 minutes long.
- Any spoken language used in your video that is not English or French must be accompanied by the relevant subtitles in English or French.
- Your video must not contain violence, profanity, sex or direct attacks on individuals or organizations. Any entries deemed offensive will be immediately disqualified.

17TH INTERNATIONAL ECONOMIC FORUM ON AFRICA

PARIS, 4 OCTOBER 2017

- Your video must be your own original creation - no copyrighted music, video, sounds or images may be used without prior, full permission from the author(s) of said copyrighted music, video, sounds or images that you wish to include.
- Your video must not infringe on any third party rights.
- Your video must not have been produced for compensation or posted previously on any OECD Web page.

The Prize

The creator of the winning video will be invited to attend the Africa Forum in Paris, France. Flight and lodging for the duration of two days will be provided. The winning video will be shown at the Africa Forum on 4 October 2017 and widely distributed through the OECD websites and social media channels.

Judging

Qualifying videos will be judged on adherence to the competition challenge through their creativity, originality, message content and overall presentation (sound and picture quality).

General

1. You must complete and send your video link using the online Registration Form if you wish to enter this competition.
2. By submitting your video to the OECD, you agree to grant the OECD free of charge the right to use your video in any manner and media, including without limitation, the right to publish, adapt, distribute, copy, display or translate. You also grant the OECD the right to licence to others.
3. You agree to take part in any competition publicity if asked to do so, according to the terms of the video release form. The prize may only be taken as stated and cannot be changed. There will be no cash alternatives.
4. The OECD does not accept any responsibility for late or lost entries. Proof of sending is not proof of receipt.
5. You must supply full details as required by the registration form, and comply with all rules to be eligible for the prize(s). No responsibility is accepted for ineligible entries or entries made fraudulently.
6. As submissions are received, OECD will vet all entries for suitability.
7. The Jury's decision is final in every situation, including any not covered above, and neither the Jury nor the OECD will respond to correspondence justifying its decision.

17TH INTERNATIONAL ECONOMIC FORUM ON AFRICA

 | PARIS, 4 OCTOBER 2017

8. If a winning entrant is unable to be contacted after reasonable attempts have been made to do so, the OECD reserves the right to offer the prize to the next best entry.
9. OECD reserves the right to not select a winner or winners if entries received are judged to be of insufficient quality.
10. Any attempt by a participant to influence the result or subvert the competition will lead to immediate disqualification.
11. The OECD reserves the right to modify or cancel the Competition or any of the arrangements, schedules, plans or other items directly or indirectly related to the Competition, at any time and for any reason if deemed necessary in its opinion.
12. You waive all claims against the OECD, its personnel and agents arising out of any oral or written publication or republication of any statement made in connection with the present Competition, your person or your video entry.
13. You agree to indemnify and hold the OECD, its personnel and agents, harmless from any third party claims for loss, damage, prejudice, liability or expense suffered as a result of or in any manner in connection with your video entry, any other of your acts or omissions or any information which you provided.
14. Your participation in the Competition, including being selected to receive a prize, in no manner constitutes an endorsement or support by the OECD of your views or aims or of any products or services. You shall not advertise or otherwise claim to have obtained any such endorsement or support. The OECD name and logo are the property of the OECD and should not be used in any manner whatsoever without the prior consent of OECD. The OECD must approve in writing any statement, advertisement, press release or similar communication in any media, relating to your participation in the Competition.
