ORGANISATION FOR ECONOMIC CO-OPERATION AND DEVELOPMENT

Pursuant to Article 1 of the Convention signed in Paris on 14th December 1960, and which came into force on 30th September 1961, the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) shall promote policies designed:

- to achieve the highest sustainable economic growth and employment and a rising standard of living in Member countries, while maintaining financial stability, and thus to contribute to the development of the world economy;
- to contribute to sound economic expansion in Member as well as non-member countries in the process of economic development; and
- to contribute to the expansion of world trade on a multilateral, non-discriminatory basis in accordance with international obligations.

The original Member countries of the OECD are Austria, Belgium, Canada, Denmark, France, Germany, Greece, Iceland, Ireland, Italy, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey, the United Kingdom and the United States. The following countries became Members subsequently through accession at the dates indicated hereafter: Japan (28th April 1964), Finland (28th January 1969), Australia (7th June 1971), New Zealand (29th May 1973), Mexico (18th May 1994), the Czech Republic (21st December 1995), Hungary (7th May 1996), Poland (22nd November 1996) and Korea (12th December 1996). The Commission of the European Communities takes part in the work of the OECD (Article 13 of the OECD Convention).

The Development Centre of the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development was established by decision of the OECD Council on 23rd October 1962 and comprises twenty-three Member countries of the OECD: Austria, Belgium, Canada, the Czech Republic, Denmark, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Iceland, Ireland, Italy, Japan, Korea, Luxembourg, Mexico, the Netherlands, Norway, Poland, Portugal, Spain, Sweden and Switzerland, as well as Argentina and Brazil from March 1994. The Commission of the European Communities also takes part in the Centre's Advisory Board.

The purpose of the Centre is to bring together the knowledge and experience available in Member countries of both economic development and the formulation and execution of general economic policies; to adapt such knowledge and experience to the actual needs of countries or regions in the process of development and to put the results at the disposal of the countries by appropriate means.

The Centre has a special and autonomous position within the OECD which enables it to enjoy scientific independence in the execution of its task. Nevertheless, the Centre can draw upon the experience and knowledge available in the OECD in the development field.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Many people have contributed to this new edition of the Macrothesaurus, not least those working in the many organisations that contributed suggestions for new terms.

The new edition was prepared by the Macrothesaurus Technical Committee, under the leadership of Ms. Alice Watson of the OECD Development Centre, and with the assistance of Ms. Anne Di Lauro, Consultant.

The other members of the Macrothesaurus Technical Committee were Ms. Maureen Sly and Ms. Diane Ceponkus of the International Development Research Centre (IDRC), and Mr. Sarbuland Khan of the United Nations Department of Economic and Social Affairs. A special contribution was made by Ms. Carmen Vera Arendt, Chief Librarian of the United Nations Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean (ECLAC), who prepared the Spanish version. Ms. Michèle Alkilic, Librarian, OECD Development Centre, revised the new French terms.

Computer programmes for the printing of the Macrothesaurus were provided by Mr. Ron Davies, Consultant. Mr. Ed Brandon of IDRC also contributed some programs.

Thanks are also due to Ms Catherine Duport, Head of Administration, OECD Development Centre, and Mr. Colm Foy, Head of the Publications/Communication Unit, and their teams, for the support given to this production. Special thanks go to staff in the Documentation Resources Division of the OECD and, in particular to Mr Patrice Taupin, Head of the Division, who collaborated in the production of the 5th edition, after having been responsible for the successful production of earlier editions in the past decades.

PREFACE

The fifth edition of the Macrothesaurus for Information Processing in the Field of Economic and Social Development represents a continuation of the combined efforts of many organisations over a period of almost 30 years to create a common vocabulary to facilitate the indexing, retrieval and exchange of development-related information. Besides its wide use as a tool for the indexing of documents by libraries and documentation centres, the Macrothesaurus is now increasingly used by multilateral and bilateral aid organisations that have created databases describing their development projects and other development activities.

The Macrothesaurus is a multilingual tool. It is maintained and published by the OECD Development Centre in three separate language versions — English, French and Spanish. German and Portuguese versions are also maintained in collaboration with the Deutsche Stiftung für Internationale Entwicklung and the Portuguese Ministério do Equipamento, do Planeamento e da Administração do Território, respectively. The Documentation Centre of the League of Arab States has undertaken to maintain an Arabic version. Permission has been granted to various organisations to translate the Macrothesaurus into several other languages, including Croatian, Italian, Slovak, Swedish, Russian, Japanese, Indonesian and Chinese.

It is also available in electronic form.

Brief History of the Macrothesaurus

The Macrothesaurus has a long history. It had its origins in the Aligned List of Descriptors, which brought together the indexing vocabularies used by the International Labour Office, the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, the International Committee for Social Science Information and Documentation and the Deutsche Stiftung für Entwicklungsländer (now the Deutsche Stiftung für Internationale Entwicklung), and which was published by the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) in 1969. The first three editions of the Macrothesaurus were prepared by the late Mr. Jean Viet, Director, Service d'échange d'informations scientifiques, Maison des Sciences de l'Homme, Paris. The first and second editions were published by the OECD in 1972 and 1978, and the third edition was published by the United Nations in 1985, with financial support from the International Development Research Centre and the Government of the Netherlands. The fourth edition was prepared by the consultants GAVEL, with the advice of an Advisory Committee composed of representatives of the United Nations Advisory Committee for the Coordination of Information Systems (ACCIS, now Information Systems Coordinating Committee — ISCC), the United Nations Department of International Economic and Social Affairs (whose role in relation to the Macrothesaurus has now been assumed by the Department of Economic and Social Affairs), the International Development Research Centre, the OECD and the OECD Development Centre. It was published by the OECD in 1991.

Preparation of the Fifth Edition of the Macrothesaurus

Soon after the publication of the fourth edition, the Advisory Committee, recognising that the disciplines and concepts described in development literature were evolving constantly, and that, to meet the needs of its users, the ongoing maintenance of the Macrothesaurus was necessary, undertook the following steps:

— decided to continue in its role of Advisory Committee;

— established a Technical Committee, comprising representatives of the organisations represented on the Advisory Committee;

— decided to solicit actively from as many users as possible proposals for additions and changes to the thesaurus;

— established a mechanism whereby each representative became a focal point for the gathering of proposals for additions and changes, contributing their own expertise to the examination and filtering of the proposals.

In order to manage the updating of the Macrothesaurus database, the Multilingual Thesaurus Management and Term Retrieval System (MTM3) was created, on the basis of MTM2 developed by INFOTERM, Vienna, with the financial support of the IDRC, OECD and OECD Development Centre.

The Macrothesaurus Maintenance Secretariat was established in the External Co-operation Programme of the OECD Development Centre to co-ordinate the ongoing maintenance operations, and a consultant was engaged to centralise and prepare the proposals for consideration by the Technical Committee.

In order to ensure that input to the thesaurus would be of the highest possible quality, a guide to the maintenance of the Macrothesaurus was prepared and distributed free of charge to Macrothesaurus users.

By May 1996, over 400 proposals for new descriptors had been received from close to 30 organisations. The Macrothesaurus Technical Committee met to consider the report of the consultant on the proposals in June 1996, at the headquarters of the IDRC in Ottawa. The new edition was then prepared by the consultant based on the decisions of the Technical Committee, and with further advice from members of the Committee.

INTRODUCTION

The Macrothesaurus for Information Processing in the Field of Economic and Social Development is a tool for the indexing of documents or activities in the broad field of economic and social development.

The name "Macrothesaurus" was adopted to show its relationship to the more specialised vocabularies in fields such as human settlements, population and labour, which make up the general area of economic and social development. The Macrothesaurus aims to be an entrance point into each of these specialised vocabularies, maintaining in common with them the more general terms, while at the same time avoiding the high degree of specificity required by organisations focusing on very specific subject areas.

Besides abstract and concrete concepts in the field of economic and social development, the Macrothesaurus contains descriptors for countries, nationalities, regions at the international level, national and other widely spoken languages, and major international organisations. Names of countries and nationalities conform to United Nations Terminology Bulletin No. 347, Country Names.

In preparing the new edition, consideration was given to maintaining, as far as possible, compatibility with other related thesauri, including the FAO's AGROVOC, the ILO Thesaurus, the UNBIS Thesaurus, the UNESCO Thesaurus and the International Thesaurus of Refugee Terminology.

In the Macrothesaurus, the form that the descriptors take and the structure of the thesaurus follow the recommendations of two standards of the International Organization for Standardization: the English version of "Guidelines for the establishment and development of monolingual thesauri", 2nd ed. Geneva, ISO, 1986 (ISO 2788) and "Guidelines for the establishment and development of multilingual thesauri", Geneva, ISO, 1985 (ISO 5964).

With regard to their form, Macrothesaurus descriptors are either nouns or gerunds (for example, "Rivers", "Marketing"), or phrases containing a noun or gerund (for example, "Environmental protection"). A verb, adjective or adverb is never used on its own as a descriptor. In general, nouns describing abstract concepts are in the singular. Nouns describing things that can be counted are in the plural in all three languages. (This is an exception to the French version of ISO 2788 which recommends that all descriptors in French be in the singular.)

Pre-co-ordination of concepts has been avoided as much as possible, but some pre-co-ordination has proved to be necessary to promote greater precision in retrieval. For example, the use of the descriptor "Agricultural planning", leads to far greater precision in searching than would the use of two separate descriptors "Agriculture" and "Planning".

Descriptors have been kept as short as possible. In cases where an acronym is better known than the full form of the name, for example, "HIV", the acronym has been adopted as the preferred term and the full form appears as a non-descriptor with the instruction to use the acronym.

Most organisation names appear in their acronym form. The full form of the organisation name is provided in the scope note and not as a non-descriptor.

Scope notes are provided when the meaning of the term would not be clear to a non-specialist or when the term has a special meaning in the context of the Macrothesaurus. They are not usually provided for terms that can be found in general-purpose dictionaries.

What is New in the Fifth Edition

The fifth edition reflects the many changes in the world since the last edition: political changes (with the addition of twenty-five new countries), technological changes (with the addition of new terms in the fields of computers and communications) and changes in priorities, centred around the UN Conference on Environment and Development and the movement towards people-oriented development.

In addition, coverage of names of languages has been increased using several sources, including the International Organization for Standardization's "Code for the representation of names of languages" (ISO 639: 1988). It has not been possible to include all known languages, but languages that have not been included are covered by the inclusion of the language groups to which they belong.

Some previously existing terms have been replaced by terms that better reflect current terminology. These remain in the thesaurus as non-descriptors with the instruction to use the replacement term.

In all, 400 new descriptors and 446 new English, French and Spanish non-descriptors have been added. The new descriptors, as well as descriptors that have been changed, deleted or replaced, are listed at the back of this volume for the convenience of users making the transition from the fourth edition.

In total, the fifth edition contains 5174 descriptors and 2057 non-descriptors (873 English, 571 French and 613 Spanish).

The fifth edition retains the same arrangement as the previous editions. This arrangement is fully described in the User guide.

There are some new features in the fifth edition:

— The scope notes have been converted to upper and lower case.

— The letter Ñ is now distinguishable in the Spanish descriptors.

— In the French and Spanish versions, the abbreviations SN, UF, Use, BT, RT and NT have been replaced by French and Spanish abbreviations.

— The descriptor groups have been provided with headings.

— Hyphens have been removed from as many descriptors as possible.

— More scope notes have been added and some scope notes have been changed.

— Some changes have been made in relationships and in the assignment of subject categories.

Computerised Version of the Macrothesaurus

The Macrothesaurus is maintained as a database using the Multilingual Thesaurus Management and Term Retrieval System (MTM3), software created for use with UNESCO's Mini-Micro CDS/ISIS. Among the features of MTM3 are: it checks for duplicate terms; it automatically generates reciprocal relations when relationships are added; it verifies that descriptors used in relations are valid terms and that they are not already linked by another kind of relationship; and, once relationships have been established in one language, it automatically generates the relations in all languages. It includes pre-defined formats for sorting and printing the thesaurus data to produce output similar in appearance to the printed version of the Macrothesaurus.

It also allows database searching through a link with the thesaurus. To define a search strategy, the user can navigate through the thesaurus to select the terms to be used in the search in any or all of the languages of the thesaurus. In view of the trend towards large textual databases, an optional facility has been added to allow searching not only on preferred terms but also on synonyms. It is envisaged that this feature could be used by those wishing to construct a controlled vocabulary for searching on unindexed text, or on databases using a variety of indexing vocabularies.

Local Descriptors

Users will undoubtedly have a need for descriptors that are not yet in the Macrothesaurus, or that do not fall within the scope of the Macrothesaurus (such as geographical terms at the subnational level and names of national organisations) or that belong to classes whose contents are too numerous for inclusion in the Macrothesaurus (such as specific products or local languages). It is recommended that users adopt such terms as "local descriptors" and either maintain an authority list in paper form or incorporate them into their copy of the Macrothesaurus database.

The MTM3 software described above provides a means for managing local descriptors within the context of information exchange among organisations that use the Macrothesaurus as well as local descriptors.

Transition from the Fourth Edition

Making the transition from one edition of a thesaurus to another usually involves two processes: changing to the new edition of the thesaurus, and changing retrospectively the indexing in the user's own database.

Users who maintain the thesaurus in its computerised form and who have added local descriptors to it should first check to see whether any of their local descriptors have become valid Macrothesaurus descriptors. They should then make a machine-readable file of the descriptors that will remain local, copy the new version of the Macrothesaurus over the old one, and then add the local descriptors (either automatically or by hand) to the new version of the database.

Some descriptors have been changed in this edition and users might need to make changes to the indexing in their databases. A list of new and changed descriptors can be found at the back of this volume. Depending on the software used for maintaining the user's database, it should be possible to carry out any necessary changes automatically, using the "global change" feature of their software. (The "Global modifications" feature of MTM3 has been especially designed to handle this kind of change.)

Maintenance of the Macrothesaurus

A suggestion form, which can be photocopied and used for the proposal of new descriptors or changes to the Macrothesaurus, can be found at the end of this volume.

USER GUIDE

A thesaurus is a controlled vocabulary containing terms for describing concepts within a particular subject area.

When a concept can be described using several different terms, a thesaurus, in its role as a "controlled vocabulary", presents one of the terms as being the "preferred term", or "descriptor", and presents its synonyms as being "non-preferred terms", or "non-descriptors", with the instruction to use the preferred term ("USE" reference). For example, "Pressure groups USE Interest groups".

In order to assist the indexer to select the most appropriate indexing terms and to assist the searcher to select the terms that will retrieve all relevant information, a thesaurus has a special structure that shows the relationship of the descriptors to each other. These relationships are either hierarchical or associative. The hierarchical relationship is one that shows the generic relationship between two descriptors, in which one term is considered to be broader in scope (Broader term or BT) than another (Narrower term or NT). For example, "Inland waterways" is considered to be a Broader term of "Rivers", and, reciprocally, "Rivers" is considered to be a Narrower term of "Inland waterways".

Descriptors that have an associative relationship are called Related terms (RT). These terms are not related hierarchically but are semantically related to each other, so that the user wishing to search on one of them might also wish to be reminded of the other, for example, "Rivers" and "River basins". The printed version of the Macrothesaurus presents the descriptors in four sections.

1. Alphabetical Display

The Alphabetical Display presents the descriptors and non-descriptors interfiled in alphabetical order. Sorting order is word by word. This section should always be consulted as it is the section where all available information about each descriptor is found — its equivalent in the three languages, its scope note (SN), the non-descriptors from which references have been made to it (indicated by the abbreviation UF), its six-digit subject category code, the terms that are immediately broader (BT) and narrower (NT) and the related terms (RT). If the broader term is not at the top of a hierarchical chain, the top term in the hierarchy to which it belongs is also provided. A plus sign before the top term indicates that it is one level above the broader term, two plus signs shows that it is two levels above it, etc. An example of entries for a descriptor and a non-descriptor in this section can be found at the end of the User Guide.

2. Descriptor Group Display

The Descriptor Group Display presents the descriptors in their broad subject categories, sorted by the six-digit subject category code. Within each category, the descriptors are arranged in alphabetical order. A title has been assigned to each descriptor group in order to clarify the nature of the grouping. These titles are not descriptors, although they are often identical to a descriptor in the group. This section can be consulted to obtain a view of all of the terms in a broad subject field.

3. Hierarchical Display

The Hierarchical Display presents those descriptors that have a BT/NT relationship, within their hierarchical chain. The section is arranged in alphabetical order of the top term in each hierarchy, with all of its narrower terms arrayed beneath it. Terms that do not have a BT/NT relationship with another term do not figure in this section.

4. Permuted Index

The Permuted, or KWOC (Key Word Out of Context), Index presents in alphabetical order each significant word in the descriptors, providing a list of the descriptors that contain the word. This section should be consulted when the user is searching for terms containing a particular word or word stem.
