Target of Development:

The field of individualising learning will be a focus of work for the coming years. The question " how can I do justice to all students" is the focus of various workgroups and the departments. It is planned to generate an individual support planning for all students, step-by-step.

One workgroup consisting of teachers and parents work on a concept providing the involvement of experts in the field of talent development.

Self-assessment and assessment by others concerning learning skills doing justice to the different development of students is being discussed as a central problem.

The new structure of tuition will be tested in the coming school year to be then evaluated internally at first.

In 2011 the first exams to obtain general qualification for university entrance will take place. In order to enable students to obtain the general qualification for university entrance even after 12 years, a model is being developed, which, similar to the school entry face, makes completing the introductory phase in one or two years possible.

Teaching as a core business of schooling requires teachers who can cope with the demanding tasks of individualisation. Continuous and systematic further education and training of teachers is thus indispensable. A concept for further education shall indicate the direction for the coming years.
