

Family Migration from Sub-Saharan Africa to Europe

Cris Beauchemin (INED, France)

ADAPTING TO CHANGES IN FAMILY MIGRATION:
THE EXPERIENCES OF OECD COUNTRIES
Conference Co-organized by:
US Department of Homeland Security & OECD
18th Nov. 2013, Washington, Tomich Conference Centre

Context

- African migration as a major policy concern
  - Since 2005, European migration policy driven by tragedies at its southern borders (Ceuta & Melilla, Canary Islands, Lampedusa)
  - In France, African migration commonly stigmatized in the public debate, including by Ministers (as relayed by medias)
    - “African invasion” in 2009
    - Riots in 2005 → undesirable migrants (polygamy, uneducated migrants)
    - Reunification reconsidered for African migrants in 2013
- In fact
  - A minority in stocks and flows of migrants in Europe

Citizens of non-EU countries resident in the EU-27 (Eurostat, 2012)

Sub-Saharan Africa (12%)

- African migration as a major policy concern
  - Since 2005, European migration policy driven by tragedies at its southern borders (Ceuta & Melilla, Canary Islands, Lampedusa)
  - In France, African migration commonly stigmatized in the public debate, including by Ministers
    - “African invasion” in 2009
    - Riots in 2005 → undesirable migrants (polygamy, uneducated migrants)
    - Reunification reconsidered for African migrants in 2013
- In fact
  - A minority in stocks and flows of migrants in Europe
  - Well educated migrants

Percentage of male migrants
with tertiary education in France
(2008, TeO Survey)

- African migration as a major policy concern
  - Since 2005, European migration policy driven by tragedies at its southern borders (Ceuta & Melilla, Canary Islands, Lampedusa)
  - In France, African migration commonly stigmatized in the public debate, including by Ministers
    - “African invasion” in 2009
    - Riots in 2005 → undesirable migrants (polygamy, uneducated migrants)
    - Reunification reconsidered for African migrants in 2013
- In fact
  - A minority in stocks and flows of migrants in Europe
  - Well educated migrants
  - Less family reunification than the average

Percentage of reunified migrants in France (2008, TeO Survey)

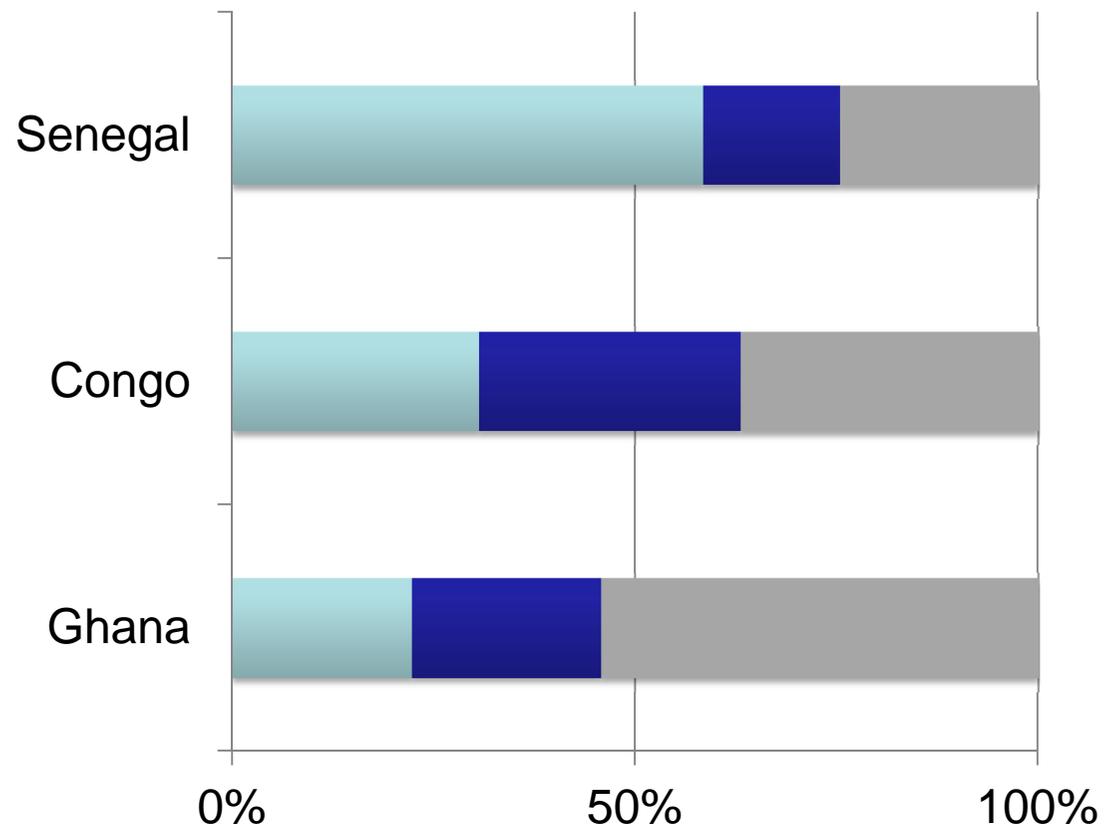

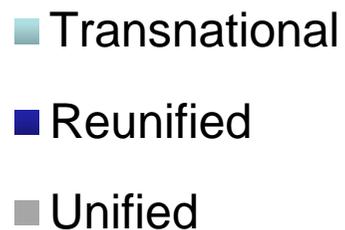

- African migration as a major policy concern
  - Since 2005, European migration policy driven by tragedies at its southern borders (Ceuta & Melilla, Canary Islands, Lampedusa)
  - In France, African migration commonly stigmatized in the public debate, including by Ministers
    - “African invasion” in 2009
    - Riots in 2005 → undesirable migrants (polygamy, uneducated migrants)
    - Reunification reconsidered for African migrants in 2013
- In fact
  - A minority in stocks and flows of migrants in Europe
  - Well educated migrants
  - Less family reunification than the average
  - ... and a strong propensity to “live apart together across borders“ (LAT-AB)

Family Arrangements of African Migrants in Europe

Family arrangements of African migrants in Europe

- 1/4 has no nuclear family
- Significant numbers of transnational families (20 to 60%)...

Source : MAFE Project ; Mazzucato et al. (2013)

Transnational Families by European receiving Country

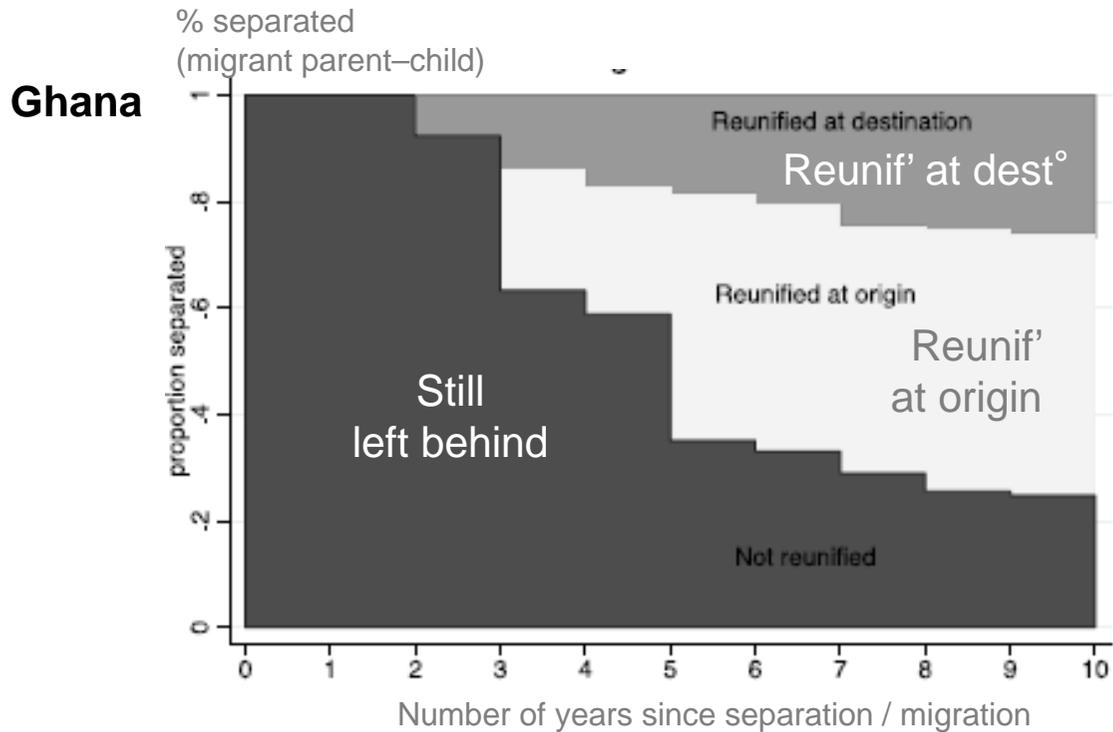

- Significant differences per European receiving country
- Longer history of migration
- Migrants' characteristics (refugees)
- Policy context

- Policy constraint?
  - Restrictive measures to limit reunification in the 1990s in Europe
- Social norms
  - Extended families
  - fosterage
  - « couples of low consistency » (Findley, 1997)
  - « Ubiquitous families » in Congo (Lututala 1989)
  - LAT as a common arrangement (Pilon 2006)
- Economic reasons to live apart
  - Better for earning maximization (reunification is costly)
  - Better for risk sharing and mutual insurance
  - Migration to reach a target before returning and reunifying at origin

Parents and Children: Separation & Reunification

Reunification with Children: When and Where?

10 years after separation:

- 1/4 were reunified in Europe
- 1/2 were joined in Ghana by their returnee parent
- 1/4 of the left-behind children are still separated from their migrant parent

Senegal

Congo

Reunification in Europe is not the more likely outcome of a separation period.

10 years after separation,

- more than 30% of the children are still separated from their parent(s) in most groups (exceptions: south-east Asia, EU15 in France)
- Higher levels of sep': SS Africa in F. and Sp., East Eur. In Sp

Proportion of Second Generation Adults Born and Living in France who Spent at Least 1 Year out of France during their Childhood

Source: 2008, TeO Survey

Conclusions

- A conceptual shift:
  - rather “Family Migration between Sub-Saharan Africa and Europe”
  - than “Family Migration from Sub-Saharan Africa to Europe ”
  - Also: other groups
- A statistical challenge
  - Generating data with a double-view of migration and family
  - Amount of split families? For how long?
  - What are the explanatory factors? Political vs. other factors
- Studying the consequences of separation
  - In home countries,
    - Well-being of left behind (or sent back) children?
  - In destination countries
    - School success and economic integration of lately reunified children?
    - Re-integration of returning children of the second generation?
    - Effect of isolation on migrants integration?

References

- Baizan, P., Beauchemin, C. & Gonzalez-Ferrer, A., 2011, A Reassessment of Family Reunification in Europe; The Case of Senegalese Couples, MAFE Working Paper 16, 27 p.
  - Available at:
http://www.ined.fr/fichier/t\_telechargement/57370/telechargement\_fichier\_en\_wp\_16\_pb\_cb\_ag.pdf
- Mazzucato V., Schans D., Caarls K., Beauchemin C., 2013, Migrant Families Between Africa And Europe: Comparing Ghanaian, Congolese And Senegalese Migration Flows, MAFE Working Paper n° 30, Paris, INED, 34 p.
  - Available at:
http://www.ined.fr/fichier/t\_telechargement/57893/telechargement\_fichier\_en\_wp30\_familiessynthesis.pdf
- Gonzalez-Ferrer Amparo, Baizan Pau, Beauchemin Cris, 2012, Child-Parent Separations among Senegalese Migrants to Europe: Migration Strategies or Cultural Arrangements?, The Annals of the American Academy of Political and Social Science, 643 (1), p. 106-133
  - Also available at:
http://www.ined.fr/fichier/t\_telechargement/57450/telechargement\_fichier\_en\_wp17\_gonzalez.et.al.pdf
- Grysole A., Beauchemin Cris, 2013, Les aller-retours des enfants de l'immigration subsaharienne : Les filles ou les garçons d'abord ?, in Migration-Société, vol. 25, n° 147-148

Migrations
between Africa
and Europe

- More info:
  - MAFE Project: <http://mafeproject.site.ined.fr/>
  - TeO Survey: http://teo\_english.site.ined.fr/ & <http://teo.site.ined.fr/>
- Contact:
  - Cris.beauchemin@ined.fr