

Meeting of the OECD-MENA Public Procurement Network

DRAFT PROGRAMME

Wednesday, 3rd February 2021 from 9am to 1pm (CET time)

Context

The Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) is supporting the MENA region in enhancing good governance, safeguarding integrity and building strong and resilient government institutions through regional support and bilateral projects, but also by enhancing sharing of lessons learned and insights in furthering governance reforms.

A key area of strategic governance is public procurement, a crucial pillar for public service delivery. Because of the sheer volume of spending it represents (up to 20-25% of GDP in the MENA region), well governed public procurement can and must play a major role in improving public sector efficiency and establishing citizens' trust. Well-designed public procurement systems also contribute to achieving pressing policy goals such as environmental protection, innovation, job creation and the development of small and medium-sized enterprises.

In the framework of the Deauville Partnership (DP) Action Plan on open governance, the G7 and DP partner countries called for the establishment of a public procurement network to assist reforms in partner countries in compliance with OECD standards and recommendations. Under the auspices of the OECD and the support of member countries like Italy and Korea, the network was launched on 19 September 2012 in Caserta, Italy. Since then, annual meetings were held and different workshops and training activities were carried out, whilst the number of countries participating in the network increased.

Objectives of the meeting

The network's objectives are to share good public procurement practices and identify needs for support in this area, based on the assessment of country procurement systems. The activities of the Network will contribute to the implementation of international legal standards on public procurement. The main reference framework is the 2015 OECD Recommendation on Public Procurement and other sources of international good practice, such as the 2018 Methodology for Assessing Procurement Systems (MAPS), the United Nations Convention against Corruption and the overall guiding framework of the UN Sustainable Development Goals.

Participants

Co-chaired by Egypt, Tunisia and Italy, the Network is composed of senior public procurement officials and practitioners from MENA and OECD countries as well as experienced representatives from international organisations.

Countries invited for the event are Algeria, Egypt, Lebanon, Jordan, Morocco and Tunisia

About the OECD and the MENA-OECD Governance Programme

The Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) is a unique forum where 37 member governments work together to address the most pressing world economic, social and environmental challenges. The OECD is also at the forefront of efforts to understand and help governments address emerging policy issues such as finding new sources of growth, building skills, and restoring public trust in government and business. The OECD provides a setting where governments can compare policy experiences, seek answers to common problems, identify good practice and work to co-ordinate domestic and international policies. The OECD brings together Member countries and a range of partners that collaborate on key global issues at national, regional and local levels. Through our standards, programmes and initiatives, we help drive and anchor reform in more than 100 countries around the world, building on our collective wisdom and shared values.

Launched in 2005 at the request of governments of the Middle East and North Africa (MENA), the MENA-OECD Governance Programme is a strategic partnership between OECD and MENA countries to share knowledge and expertise, with a view to disseminate standards and principles of good governance that support the ongoing process of reform in the MENA region. Today, the Programme convenes representatives of 18 MENA governments (Algeria, Bahrain, Djibouti, Egypt, Iraq, Jordan, Kuwait, Lebanon, Libya, Mauritania, Morocco, Oman, Palestinian Authority, Qatar, Saudi Arabia, Tunisia, United Arab Emirates and Yemen), OECD member and partner countries to exchange good practices in a wide range of policy areas, leveraging the OECD model of policy dialogue and peer learning. It provides a sustainable structure for regional policy dialogue as well as for country specific projects. These projects correspond to MENA governments' increasing commitment to pursue public sector reforms in order to unlock social and economic development and meet citizens' growing expectations in terms of quality services, inclusive policy making and transparency.
