

Daniela Storti
Senior Researcher
CREA

Daniela Storti, Ph.D. in Institutions, Agriculture and Development Policies, is a senior researcher at CREA. She has more than 20 years of experience in agricultural and rural policies design, territorial analysis, implementation of rural policies and strategies. Member of the National interministerial Committee (since September 2012) that ensures the governance of the National Strategy for Inner Areas in Italy, she interfaces with local communities to define innovative local strategies for improving rural services and triggering local development projects.