The Future
of Education:
Where do we go from here?

Jon Schnur

Chairman + CEO America Achieves (United States)

Jon Schnur is the Chief Executive Officer of America Achieves and Bloomberg Philanthropies' Lead Outside Advisor on Education. Jon served under Presidents Obama and Clinton — including as Senior Advisor to U.S. Secretary of Education Arne Duncan, member of the Obama presidential transition team, co-chair of Barack Obama's Education Committee for his 2008 presidential campaign, Education Advisor to Vice President Al Gore, Clinton White House Associate Director for Education Policy and special assistant to U.S. Secretary of Education Richard Riley. Jon also was co-founder and Chief Executive Officer of New Leaders a national nonprofit that prepares education leaders to deliver breakthrough results in America's highest-need schools and advocates for policies that enable great leaders — and their students — to thrive and succeed.
