

Ousman Djibo

Project Manager, Agricultural Policy and Food Security, GIZ

Ousmane Djibo is an Agricultural economist with 18 years of work experience in the field of rural development, agricultural finance, agricultural policy and food security and agricultural technical and vocational training. He started his career as a manager of a Microfinance Institution in rural area in Burkina in 1997 before joining Deutsche Gesellschaft für Internationale Zusammenarbeit (GIZ) in 2002, where he has been working for the last 16 years. First as agribusiness and agrifinance adviser in the bilateral Agriculture Development Programme in Burkina Faso. He was then after appointed as GIZ-Adviser to the NEPAD Agency in South Africa in support to the Comprehensive Africa Agriculture Development Programme (CAADP). He has been supporting in this function the CAADP process at national and regional level in West Africa (ECOWAS), Central Africa (ECCAS) and Southern Africa (SADC).

Later on, he was appointed as Head of the GIZ-CAADP Support Programme in support to the African Union Commission and the NEPAD Agency. After working seven years on CAADP, he moved to GIZ-HQ in Bonn in 2016 as Head of the GIZ Sector Project Agriculture Policy and Food and Nutrition Security advising the German Federal Ministry for Economic Cooperation and Development (BMZ). Ousmane Djibo holds a Master Degree in Cooperative Economics from the University of Marburg in Germany and a Master in Development Economics and a Bachelor in Rural Sociology from the University of Ouagadougou in Burkina Faso.